Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town
With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

It won't be long now before the hobos can move back home. The Santa Ana river bed is almost dry again. Along the bridges which cross the hobo camps spring up. They move either out or back with the rainy season, and this year they moved away back. We had a flood.

Guess I'll call for help again. The one-eyed automobile is becoming too frequent. Put a lot of 'em out of commission last year by whining through this column, but I didn't get any results until Cap. Meehan of the state highway patrol and Lieutenant Hersh of the Santa Ana motorcycle department joined in the crusade. There is a state highway law against operating a vehicle with one light. You not only violate the law but you increase the highway hazard. Let both lights be burning. Sounds scriptural, and anyway it is good advice.

Those lovely jacaranda trees in the vicinity of the postoffice, and in other of the older parts of the city, are in bloom again. The species is Brazilian, the flower trumpet-shaped, color lavender. When they release themselves from the tree the pavement is a carpet of enchantment. It is a pretty sight. A lover of flowers regrets to see the automobiles crush the floral poetry of God.

There's more to June than brides and grooms. Friday was Jefferson Davis' birthday. The 14th will be flag day, the 17th battle of Bunker Hill, and the 21st the first day of summer, in case the thermometer does not remind you of it.

Drunk driving doesn't necessarily confine itself to an automobile. In Fresno a few days ago the police thought the front wheel of a bicycle was wobbling too much, and when they inquired of the fellow who was riding the bike, they found out why. He wasn't a trick rider, either, unless the trick was to stay on the seat while the wheel was doing an ogree curve.

Solving the unsolved problems is taking a lot of our time, without getting results. I sometimes wonder what would happen if we used all the time solving solvable problems, that we now devote to subjects remote and insurmountable. Yet day in and day out all of us consume a lot of hours discussing subjects which lawmakers so far haven't satisfactorily settled.

If we did not lay up a few good deeds in the storehouse of memory we would be better off without a memory. It is those little helpful acts performed in the long ago which give many of us comfort and help in our self-appropraisement. Some thirty years ago a Santa Ana business man assisted a young lady to get a position in the Los Angeles city schools. Through all of the depressions and vicissitudes of changing scholastic administrations she has held her position. The Santa Ana business man who helped to get that girl her school job has his act brought to his attention a few days ago when the father of the girl re-introduced himself and recalled the incident. There really is something comforting living with that kind of a memory. What is that about bread being cast upon the water?

The Eugenics Research Association learns from Dr. Paul Popenoe that weddings performed in church are less liable to divorce than those performed by magistrates. He thinks formal ceremonies have a better adhesive value. Maybe that is because more people usually see them, and the embarrassment would be greater in case of divorce.

Martin Murray, who collects weather data, also collects earthquake vibrations. He has the result of the disturbance of 12:35 a. m. May 31, which also recorded itself on my mental seismograph. But Martin has the real record, and the definite location. It is mechanically conclusive on his chart. A few weather forecasts may get away from him, but no earthquake, as his instruments are in continuous motion and he gets vibrations east and west, north and south, and also distance. I remember the one of 1933, and for distance it wasn't far enough away.

The Welfare Department of the county government doesn't seem to be fairing so well. It is difficult to remember away back when there wasn't some sort of a rumple in that department, even when it was well managed.

25¢ AN HOUR MINIMUM PAY PLAN LOSES

WASHINGTON, (AP) — House members of a joint committee on wage-hour legislation rejected today a proposal to set a minimum wage of 25 cents and maximum hours of 44 a week for a period of two years.

The discarded plan provided for a commission to report to congress in two years on the wage-hour question. Congress then could have enacted new legislation in line with the report.

Senate conferees came forward with a compromise which would surrender, in part, the immediate wage differentials but would extend to five years the time elapsing before a 40 cents an hour minimum wage would become effective.

The proposal, made by Senator Walsh (D., Mass.), was said to have received "serious consideration" by the joint congressional group.

Walsh's proposal, opposed by Senators Ellender (D., La.) and Pepper (D., Fla.), only Southerners on the senate group, would fix the minimum wage immediately at 25 cents an hour. This would be increased 3 cents yearly for the next five years.

SUSPENSION POSSIBLE The proposed compromise also would provide for the appointment of an administrative board which would be empowered to suspend the minimum wage rates for any industry which could prove that it would be harmed.

The compromise rejected by the house members was offered by Representative Hartley (R., N. J.) and supported by Representative Ramspeck (D., Ga.). It was opposed by the other five house conferees. It was not, therefore, submitted formally to the whole conference committee.

A senate conferee said, however, it might be submitted again and stood a chance of adoption "as a final resort" should the conference become deadlocked on the question of wage differentials.

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — Close friends of Frances Langford, petite radio and screen singer and John Hall, strapping actor, said today their engagement will be formally announced next Tuesday.

BRITISH WIN WALKER CUP

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, (AP) — Great Britain's Walker Cup golf team today defeated the United States, 7 matches to 4, with one halved, for Britain's first victory in the international series that began in 1922.

Going into the final day's singles competition with a 2-1 lead gained in yesterday's Scotch four-somes, the Britons won five of the eight singles tests to take the cup after nine successive U. S. victories.

It was Alex. Kyle, of England, No. 8 in the singles lineup, who came through with the triumph that clinched the British victory. Kyle turned back Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, 5 and 4, to make the standing six matches to four, and Cecil Ewing, giant Irishman who lost to Charles Yates in the British amateur final last Saturday, then made the final score 7 to 4 with a one-up decision over Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Gunman Cuts Loose In Chinese Theater

SHANGHAI, (AP) — A lyceum theater audience was thrown into panic tonight when a gunman rose as the final curtain fell and shot a Chinese official of the International Business Machines corporation.

The official, Chen Anchen, was wounded in the neck and another Chinese wounded in the shoulder by the same bullet.

Santa Catalina Postmaster Held

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — Charged with embezzlement of $1712 of postal funds, James B. Ogden, postmaster of Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, was taken into custody today by United States Marshals on a federal indictment.

Ogden was secretly indicted by the federal grand jury Wednesday following an audit of the post office books at Avalon.

Court Holds Love Is Worth $30,000

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — Thirty thousand dollars is not an exorbitant price for Mrs. Thelma Clark, wealthy widow of William A. Clark, III, to pay for stealing the love of Michael Fitzpatrick, handsome ship's purser, the district court of appeal holds.

Keep Mrs. Spangler On Job — Or Else, Board Warns Snow

Welfare Director Jack Snow today had been ordered in effect to reinstate Assistant Director Belle Spangler and Mrs. Mary Lyons, case aide—or else.

County supervisors, meeting yesterday afternoon before a crowd which filled the board room to overflowing, voted three to two to override the director's action in firing the two employees, despite a county ordinance giving the welfare director power to fire employees for "cause sufficient to himself."

Snow declined comment today on what his action would be, although Mrs. Spangler said he told her this morning, "We'll work along as usual."

Mrs. Spangler, a member of the welfare staff for seven years, was discharged Tuesday along with Mrs. Lyons. On orders of Supervisor Steele Finley, supervisors' committee for the welfare department, both refused to leave their posts.

The board took no action toward removing Snow, although Chairman William L. Smith said he was in favor of a change in directors, and Finley said he had similar feelings. Supervisor John Mitchell, who voted with Finley and Smith against Supervisors N. E. West and Harry Riley to override the department head's action, said he would want Snow discharged if the director's accusations against Mrs. Spangler proved unfounded.

THOUSANDS HUNT IN VAIN FOR BODY OF KIDNAPED BOY

PRINCETON, Fla. (AP) — Wearing, grief-ridden James Bailey Cash, sr., said today he was resigned to the death of his only child but convinced the kidnap-slayers would be caught.

Cash, his shoulders bent by fatigue and his eyes bloodshot from sleepless nights, appeared briefly on the porch of his home to express to reporters his thanks to the 2000 persons who hunted fruitlessly for the blond five-year-old boy snatched from his bedroom last Saturday.

The stricken father said Mrs. Cash still was under a physician's care but was "some better." Like himself, she has abandoned hope for her blue-eyed son's life.

With the baffling case entering routine phases of investigation, most of the 2000 persons who tramped in vain over 120 square miles of territory bordering the Everglades returned to their homes.

But the squad of federal agents headed by J. Edgar Hoover worked diligently on every lead, mindful of the fact almost a week had passed since the Cash boy was stolen from his bed.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA WINS I. C. 4-A. TRACK MEET

NEW YORK, (AP) — Southern California captured the 62nd Intercollegiate A. A. A. track and field championship meet today by an overwhelming margin. The Trojans rolled up 47½ points, for their eighth team conquest in a rain-swept athletic battle at Randall's Island stadium, marked by three record-smashing and two record equalling performances.

Delos Thurber, U. S. C. and Olympic star, set one record in the high jump by clearing 6 feet 6½ inches. The old record was set by George Spitz, N. Y. U., at a half inch lower in 1933.

The oldest mark on I. C. A. A. A. books tumbled when Edgar Howard Bork, Manhattan college, ran the mile in 4:13.9, displacing the 25-year-old mark of John Paul Jones, Cornell, of 4:14.4.

BED AFIRE, SHE STAYS IN

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP) — Firemen awakened 47-year-old Anna Bay and told her to get up. Her bed was on fire.

But Mrs. Bay was modest. She had on neither pajamas nor nightgown and she wouldn't get up in the nude, not before all those firemen. The firemen pleaded, Mrs. Bay remained modest.

So the firemen turned on the water and thoroughly damped down the fire, the bed and Mrs. Bay, but not Mrs. Bay's modesty.

When the firemen left with her husband, Otto, to have doctors treat a burn which made him uncomfortable, Mrs. Bay, modesty, dampness and all, was still in bed.

ERROR TRAPS DUCE FLIERS

MADRID, (AP) — Two Italian pilots who mistook the government's airfield at Guadalajara for an insurgent base were reported today to have been captured with their Italian-made (it) pursuit planes.

Last night the two airmen, a lieutenant and a sergeant, sighted the Guadalajara field, about 30 miles northeast of Madrid. They were nearly out of gas, it was said, and, believing themselves to be over insurgent territory, they landed.

Government soldiers rushed onto the field. The two men surrendered.

Young Slayer No Longer Insane

NEW YORK, (AP) — Donald Carroll, jr., 16, who was acquitted "by reason of insanity" of slaying the girl he loved, was reunited with his parents today after examining physicians at Bellevue hospital reported to Queens County Judge Thomas Downs that the youth was "not suffering from a psychosis."

FREUD LEAVES VIENNA, N. Y. - BOUND

VIENNA, (AP) — Professor Sigmund Freud, 82-year-old "father of psychoanalysis," left Vienna by train today, telling friends he intended to go to London and later to New York.

He carried with him manuscripts and books comprising his life work, indicating he did not plan to return. He had been reported planning to leave ever since Germany absorbed Austria March 13.

Vienna's official Nazi organ, Voelkischer Beobachter, in reporting his departure did not mention his name, but referred to the Freudian psychoanalytic school as a "pornographic Jewish specialty."

"The Vienna psychoanalytic school," the newspaper said, "was actually a center against the reich during the previous regime."

The newspaper charged that Jewish physicians in Vienna before Anschluss boycotted German medical institutions "even when there was no substitute for them." It further stated that of 3268 physicians in

WHITTIER MAN KILLED AT LA HABRA

Death took its toll on Orange county highways again today, with the passing away of a Whittier man, Ed Qualls, 55, 422 Palm street, as the result of an accident at the intersection of Central and La Mirada avenues, one mile west of La Habra around 7 p. m. yesterday.

Qualls, who died in Murphy's hospital, Whittier, was traveling east on Central avenue when he was struck by an automobile driven by R. E. Jernstrom, 41, Rapid City, S. D. Jernstrom was so excited after the collision he told officers he could not remember whether he had made a boulevard stop.

Superficial injuries were sustained by two other South Dakota persons, Bernice and Elaine Jernstrom, and a cousin, Myra Cant, Sierra Madre, who were riding in Jernstrom car.

An inquest probably will be conducted by Whittier authorities, Coroner Earl Abbey of Orange county, said today.

No Poison Trace in Levine Boy's Body

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (AP) — Dr. Amos A. Squire, medical examiner of Westchester county, reported today poison played no part in the death of kidnaped Peter Levine, 12, whose headless body was recovered from Long Island sound last Sunday.

The medical examiner made his announcement as George Anderson, a diver from the Brooklyn navy yard, returned to the bottom of Echo bay in his search for the boy's head.

Prison Building to Start by July 1

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — Construction will begin by July 1 on a $4,100,000 state prison for 1000 offenders near Chino, southwest of here.

The state prison site commission yesterday agreed to purchase 2566 acres from the American Crystal Sugar company of Denver for $650,000 for the penal institution. Under a WPA grant of $1,700,000 construction must begin by July 1.

Avocado Demand Boosted in East

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — The demand for avocados has increased to where growers will average twice as much for fruit marketed in April as in December, George H. Hodgkin, manager of the Calavo Growers of California cooperative, announced today.

Hodgkin said advertising in eastern newspapers since December had greatly stimulated the demand.

Pours Wintergreen In Eye by Error

CINCINNATI, (AP) — Lou Chiozza, second baseman for the New York Giants, was the victim of an odd accident today.

Prior to today's game with the Cincinnati Reds, Chiozza reached for a bottle of eye wash solution but grabbed oil of wintergreen instead. A doctor was summoned from the stands and relieved Chiozza's pain but he was unable to play. Mickey Haslin took his place.

Credit Extended To Valley Farmers

YOSEMITE, (AP) — San Joaquin Valley fruit growers were assured further credit today even if their current crop prospects aren't so hot.

Unfavorable weather dampened the outlook for many orchardists in the valley. But 50 credit association officials from Merced, Modesto, Fresno and Bakersfield decided yesterday to continue lending money to the growers.

Boards Elected; Write-In Fails In Fullerton

Highlighted by a spirited write-in campaign that fell 265 votes short of overthrowing the present balance of power in Fullerton's high school and junior college district, voters in every Orange county school district except Santa Ana elected 57 elementary and high school board officials yesterday.

Claude Ridgway of La Habra, incumbent, was reelected to his position on the Fullerton board, despite the heavy write-in vote for W. T. Rodgers, sr., of Fullerton. The unofficial vote: Ridgway 885, Rodgers 610.

Present lineup of the Fullerton board has found Ridgway, J. W. Schiller and L. B. Steward generally favorable to the high school and junior college administration, with Ruth R. Chapman and Harold E. Hale antagonistic to the present administration on matters of policy.

The campaign for Rodgers was launched by "an alumni group" after a recent battle over the firing of a junior college instructor.

Garden Grove and El Modena were the scenes of the biggest upsets in the otherwise quiet elections. At Garden Grove, J. G. Allen, elementary school board member for 15 years, lost to E. L. Fritcher by 10 votes, 132-122.

Incumbent Blanche L. Huff was beaten by Henry Campbell, write-in candidate, 44 to 37, in El Modena.

A tie between two write-in candidates in the El Toro district will necessitate a new election. Incumbent Hiram Whisler and W. W. Gould each received seven votes. John Jasna was elected to the Peralta district board with only six write-in votes.

At San Juan Capistrano, Dr. Paul H. Esslinger and LeRoy M. Strang were elected to two positions on the high school board, and Carl H. Hankey was defeated. L. S. Hatley was elected by Huntington Beach elementary district over Chris P. Pann and John E. Whitfield. Gordon B. Findley reportedly defeated C. Harold Hopkins in a Newport elementary school race.

Results from other districts where there were contests: Katella, Irwin G. North 69, A. F. Siewers 60; Laguna Beach unified, William J. Harris 342, Charles S. Dean 213; Brea elementary school, incumbent E. H. Peterkin 347, E. Wilmer Giltner 72; Cypress, William Rapp 101, Steve Reuter 38.

JAPS RENEW CANTON RAID

CANTON, (AP) — Japanese warplanes twice raided the busy streets of Canton today renewing devastating attacks which previously brought vigorous British protests to Japan against bombardment of civilian populations.

Casualties were believed to exceed those of last Saturday when 750 persons were killed and 1350 wounded, according to official figures.

Approximately 40 Japanese planes flew over the city in the first raid and 35 in the second. The invaders were repulsed by Chinese anti-aircraft batteries in the second attack, but only after inflicting heavy damage.

SHANGHAI, (AP) — Six large Chinese junks armored with steel plate today attacked a Japanese patrol vessel off the south China coast in what a Japanese naval spokesman called extension of guerrilla activities to the sea.

Senate Votes 6 to 1 for $3,723,000,000 Lending-Spending Bill

OPPONENTS OF MEASURE ARE ROUTED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The senate voted six to one for a $3,723,000,000 spending-lending program last night—and handed the Roosevelt administration the purse strings.

The 70 senators who remained for the finish of the two-weeks' battle over the bill divided 60 to 10 for the measure. Seven Republicans and three Democrats lined up against it.

Before the final vote, opponents of the program were completely routed. They lost every attempt to write restrictions into the bill. As passed, it would give President Roosevelt an entirely free hand in the disposition of the huge appropriation.

Twice the senate turned down proposals to forbid political activities by employees in emergency agencies. Opponents of the amendments contended this would deny such employees freedom of speech and opinion.

These amendments brought the closest contest. One was rejected by one vote and the other by two. By substantial margins, administration leaders defeated proposals to earmark more than $500,000,000 of PWA funds for specific purposes. President Roosevelt, asking "flexibility" in the relief program, had indicated opposition to earmarking.

The chamber also turned a cold shoulder to a Republican proposal to hand over relief administration to the states and an effort by Senator Byrd (D., Va.) to wipe out the $95,000,000 appropriation for the PWA.

Tired at the end of three night sessions, the senators acted on a score of amendments last night. Long speeches were few and far between, and when one did come the speaker's argument was interrupted by loud cries of "vote."

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, stepped from one desk to another during the last hours of debate, holding whispered conferences and presumably urging senators to hold their tongues and let the bill come to a vote.

ORANGE CO. SCHOOL HEADS ARE ELECTED

Earl A. Gardner and E. A. Wakeham won positions on the Garden Grove high school board without opposition, and other unopposed high school candidates were J. A. Baker, Anaheim; Arthur F. Wilson, Huntington Beach; A. H. Fitzpatrick and W. B. Mellett, Newport Harbor; Errol T. Watson, Orange, and Porter G. Luther and Hugh J. Plumb, Tustin.

No returns had been received in the county clerk's office from six districts—Fountain Valley, Greenville, San Joaquin, Alamitos, Serra and Springdale—which were without regular candidates.

Unopposed candidates in elementary districts which failed to report results this morning: E. R. Canfield, Buena Park; C. Wendell Olson, Fullerton; Francis A. Ward, Laurel; C. C. Vogle, Laora; Robert M. Walsh, Magnolia; Embree B. Houts, Orange; W. M. Bradford and John E. McLeod, Placentia; LeRoy M. Strang, San Clemente; Harlow M. Halladay, San Juan; Sam E. Parry, Savana; Glen A. Pierpont, Seal Beach; Walter L. West and O. K. Anderson, Villa Park; Percy A. Lawrence, Westminster, and Ralph C. Shook, Yorba Linda.

A national magazine started a word-hunt when a contributor used the word euhemeristic, and one of the correspondents wanted to know what the darn word meant anyway. But little Noah put it in his dictionary and that validates it. It was a theory held by Euhemerus that the gods of mythology were but deified mortals, and their deeds only the amplification in imagination of human acts. And there is still a lot of amplified imagination going on in this country which isn't healthy for the body politic.

Fullerton Chiselers Chisel Cigars Out of Candidates, Then Endorse All of Them

By MILLARD BROWNE

They must be going to have an election, because the strangest things happen . . .

There was Elmer Guy, who's running for district attorney, sitting down to lunch with George Holden, who's running for district attorney.

And over here was Sheriff Logan Jackson puffing on a cigar that Sheriff-Candidate Jesse Elliott had just given him.

And there was me, who chiseled into the chiselers club—and got away with it.

Pretty soon Congressman-to-be maybe C. T. Johnson got up and told a joke, and it was rather sticky. There were about 150 people, mostly people who are running for something, and they nearly all laughed at his joke, because they knew it would be on him.

The joke always is on the honored guest, when the Fullerton Chiselers club holds its annual big time like it did yesterday in A Bit of Scandia cafe. Congressman-to-be-hope Johnson became the club's 600th member.

The club endorsed his candidacy, too. In fact it endorsed everybody else's candidacy. That's the cardinal principle. The Chiselers back all candidates, without fear or favor. That way the club's indorsees always win.

Every time they indorse a candidate, they pass cigars. The indorsee gets the first cigar; and it's traditional that the one who gets the first cigar pays for the rest of the box. The city of Fullerton ran out of cigars, however, before they finished indorsing people yesterday, though.

We haven't checked up since, but it's a good bet that Fred Strauss and Dr. Jack Menges, "bird dogs," who were elected to distribute the ceremonial smokes, developed bunions, because they made the rounds once for Johnson, then again and again for Judge Homer Ames, Judge-Candidate Jim Tucker, Judge-Candidate Kenneth Morrison, Sheriff Jackson, Sheriff-Candidate Elliott, County Clerk B. J. Smith and County Assessor James Sleeper. Then they ran out of cigars.

Only trouble with Chiselers club endorsements is that they don't last very long. Take Jim Sleeper. He said he was endorsed 28 years ago (of course that's probably wrong, because the club only started 12 years ago) and he's been elected ever since. But yesterday they figured his endorsement was worn out and he'd better have another. He bought cigars.

Then Sheriff Jackson remembered he'd been endorsed eight years ago. And he thanked the club profusely for the earlier endorsement.

Political campaigns warmed up considerably today, as 17 more would-be officeholders took out nomination papers in County Clerk B. J. Smith's office.

Sheriff Logan Jackson, Coroner Earl Abbey and Supervisor N. E. West had formal opposition with today's list of candidates. F. M. Guyon of Garden Grove and Constable Jesse Elliott took out nomination papers for sheriff; J. G. Bernelle of Anaheim, perennial opponent of Abbey's, took out papers for coroner and public administrator; and City Councilman Lloyd Claire of Newport Beach had a petition for nomination as fifth district supervisor, opposing West.

Meanwhile four more men became official candidates as they completed filing their papers so their names will appear on the Aug. 30 primary ballot. They are Supervisor John Mitchell of Garden Grove, Constable Walter Skillman of Fullerton and Constable William Ponting of Newport Beach township, incumbents, and Howard C. Cameron, Santa Ana attorney who is running for justice of the peace here.

New candidates yesterday afternoon and today:

Cecil Baggs of Laguna Beach, candidate for constable.

Clyde A. Watson, Orange, candidate for reelection as seventy-fourth district, Democratic ticket.

John L. Stanton, Tustin, candidate for reelection as constable.

F. M. Guyon, Garden Grove, candidate for sheriff.

John G. Bernelle, Anaheim, candidate for coroner and public administrator.

Cal D. Lester, Orange, candidate for reelection as justice of the peace.

H. Hoskins, Anaheim postmaster, candidate for Democratic central committee.

Willard Smith, Orange, candidate for reelection as fourth district supervisor.

Jesse L. Elliott, Santa Ana constable, candidate for sheriff.

Elmer B. DeuPree, Silverado, former Seal Beach publisher, candidate for justice of the peace, Orange township.

dorment. But Harry Suters, who was toastmaster, scowled and barked: "You want to be re-elected, don't you?" So Jackson had to flash back, "O. K. I'll buy the cigars." Did someone say Jackson wasn't going to be a candidate?

Considering Jackson became big-hearted like that, Jesse Elliott, next victim, beamed, "Why yes, I'll be happy to receive an endorsement." He dug for his wallet.

Toastmaster Suters, who is an undertaker when he isn't president of the Chiselers club, couldn't bear to suggest that Coroner Earl Abbey be endorsed, since he was afraid it might look like politics.

So Secretary Howard Irwin took the gavel.

When Irwin asked Abbey didn't he want to be endorsed, the party almost broke up. Because Abbey had his speech all memorized: "I would like to have an endorsement, and I would suggest that McCauley and Suters mortuary pay the bill." Partner McCauley conferred with Partner Suters, and President Suters ruled the motion out of order, entertained a motion that Abbey be endorsed by acclamation.

The toastmaster wasn't bothered much when they ran out of cigars. He just mumbled something about a $2.50 club deficit. The next half-dozen endorsees

Looks Like Shriners Will Have to Buy Orange Juice

If Shriners attending their convention in Los Angeles next week are to drink orange juice from Orange county, it appears they will have to pay for the privilege. At least this is the way matters stood today.

Various chambers of commerce throughout the county proposed to the board of supervisors this week that the county trustees purchase enough oranges to furnish 6000 six-ounce drinks of juice to the Shriners free of charge to advertise Orange county. At that time an option had been obtained on a 75-foot counter in the Shrine headquarters from which to serve the refreshments. On Tuesday the board of supervisors refused to furnish money for the purpose out of the county advertising funds.

By Thursday a number of communities and chambers had banded together to obtain necessary money and were ready to carry the idea through, when it was learned that the option on the counter, which had expired the previous day, had been taken over by another organization.

So, there being no place to serve the juice now, the plan has again been dropped.

DRUNK DRIVING PUTS 2 IN JAIL

Drunk-driving charges landed Melvin Clem Simoneau, 711 North Main street, and Ralph Wilbur Easley, 914 West Fourth street, in county jail on 75-day sentences yesterday in lieu of $150 fines levied by City Judge J. G. Mitchell.

Logan Monroe, 504 1/2 North Main street, was found guilty of being intoxicated, and given a $15 work order. Paul Corbin, 1107 West Fourth street, was fined $20 for intoxication and must pay before June 14.

Speeders and overtime parkers also enriched the city coffers. Thomas Anderson, Buena Park, paid an $8 fine for speeding; Franklin G. West, 321 West Santa Clara, $4 for four parking citations; Walter French, Los Angeles, $10 for speeding and failure to observe a boulevard stop; Walter Wilson, 204 Princeton, Fullerton, $3 for speeding; G. L. Gutierrez, Placentia, $2 for having no muffler; C. L. Hendrickson, $2 for overtime parking citations twice; Jack Lancaster, 915 West Nineteenth street, $8 for speeding and $2 for failure to observe boulevard stop; Alphonso Vasquez, Costa Mesa, $10 for speeding; Pedro Mugana, 917 East Pine, and Laura Zolinos, 504 1/2 North Main, $2 apiece for overtime parking and failure to appear. Sylvia White, 1523 Durant, was certified to the juvenile court on a speeding charge.

Origin of Hay Fire Sought

Investigation of a mysterious hay fire at Delhi and Maple avenues last night was pushed by Santa Ana fire department officials today.

The fire broke out at 8:35 p. m. in a field covered with newly-mown hay which had not yet been raked up. Origin of the blaze was not determined.

each agreed to make up the entire deficit instead of buying smokes. Now the club has a much bigger surplus than almost any other club in Orange county.

First in line to help erase the deficit was Recorder Fred Sidebottom who admitted he wants to keep on being county recorder. Auditor Bill Lambert, Treasurer Terry Stephenson and Tax Collector John Lamb, who made similar confessions, and Judge-Candidate Frank West and Dist. Atty. Candidates Guy and Holden joined Sidebottom in clearing away the deficit.

Most active campaigner at the meeting, which was filled with campaigners, was Clyde Bruce, who had two explanations to make today. He's deputy county clerk and clerk in superior court. And it was his motions for indorsement that cost both his bosses—Clerk Smith and Judge Ames—cigar money.

Most-out-of-order speech in the meeting was by Sam Collins, founder of the Round-Table club (which seated itself around some 40 little square tables yesterday, by the way), who pontifically announced, "I am not a candidate for any public office."

Ted Craig, former speaker of the state assembly, turned tables on the Chiselers—he indorsed their indorsements, on grounds that "all I was or ever hope to be, I owe to the Chiselers' indorsement."

Lotus (Guv) Loudon, Anaheim publisher, also rendered a brief statement: "I don't want any indorsement; but I'll admit it might have done some good before the Republican convention." (He was a congressional candidate until the Republicans decided to concentrate on Johnson.)

Tommy Kuchel, who would like to be sent back up to the assembly, told a story about the local politician who rang a doorbell, was quizzed on morals, wanted to be frank and admitted he occasionally took a drink of beer, and was promptly chased off the premises. Kuchel mentioned no names, but there was a man at the center table who blushed.

Closest the Chiselers let any of the candidates come to a real stump speech were remarks by Clerk Smith and Assessor Sleeper. "I'm for lower taxes and equitable assessments," Sleeper announced when someone mentioned an "indorsement fee."

"I'm running on an anti-cigar, anti-cigaret platform," Smith reported, but the platform caved in almost immediately.

A good time and seven cigars were had by all.

BOARD BACKS MRS. SPANGLER IN SNOW ROW

regularities" in funds handled by Mrs. Spangler during the administration of Byron Curry, welfare director who was ousted by the board in January, 1937.

Mrs. Spangler emphatically denied all his charges yesterday afternoon, saying that regardless of his statement there was absolutely no truth in the allegation that there were any irregularities in departmental accounts.

Mitchell said if Snow's charges were founded, the director should not be removed. He asked investigation of them by the district attorney's office.

FINLEY BACKS MRS. SPANGLER

From 3:45 p. m., when Finley remarked, "I notice quite an audience here," until 5:15 p. m., when Finley remarked, "I'm still in the dark as to what my authority is," the packed board room bristled with tension.

"I'm supposed to be head of the welfare department," said the Santa Ana supervisor. "No one stands higher in the department than these two women and I will stand back of them until something more is shown me."

Mrs. Spangler gave the board a flat denial of all Snow's charges.

DISLOYALTY DENIED

"There never has been any irregularity in any funds handled in the welfare department," she said. "There has been no disloyalty. As for borrowing money from others, I think I am on the other side; I think probably I have loaned more money than I have borrowed."

"I wish to deny every statement Mr. Snow has made against me and against my character."

Mrs. Lyons also denied she had been disloyal. Snow had first fired her, she said, then when pressed for a reason had asked her to resign. When she refused, she said, he fired her again.

"The only reason he would give me," she said, "was that I had said things about him. I deny that, except that I did state, 'I could excuse you for your inexperience.'"

Blodgett demanded exoneration for his client, saying Snow had "gone back into matters prior to his administration, matters which had nothing to do with the office—and even those are not based on fact."

LEGAL OPINION READ

He urged that the board "clear the records" of the two employees. "I was elected by the people of Santa Ana," reiterated Finley, "on the understanding I was to be in charge of the welfare department. Snow is only an employee."

Asst. Dist. Atty. Preston Turner gave the board an opinion, written by Deputy Dist. Atty. Harold McCabe and holding that the ordinance creating the welfare department gave the director power to fire employees. If the board wanted to take control of the situation, McCabe wrote, it could amend the ordinance.

Mitchell made a motion that the ordinance be amended, if necessary—but recalled it as Blodgett handed him a note.

FINLEY SECONDS MOTION

Reading from the note, Mitchell moved that Finley be sustained and that Snow ordered to resign. Mrs. Spangler and Mrs. Lyons. There was no second from West or Riley; and Finley finally had to second it.

West drew a chuckle when he remarked, "I had hoped to avoid making a statement—or maybe I didn't."

"Never before has a department head's action on dismissing an employee been questioned by the board of supervisors. Department heads are put there to administer; if we exceed that authority we create a state of anarchy and chaos. Mr. Snow has given reasons that are more than valid, if they are proved. They should be investigated."

SMITH'S VOTE DECIDES

Riley charged there were "four or five systems of spying" in the department, and said a department head, so long as he was in office, deserved support.

West and Riley charged Finley with encouraging "tattling" by questioning employees without Snow's knowledge.

"If they divulge departmental information to you, you don't call them snooters, eh?" asked West.

Santa Anan Makes Trip Around Globe

Richard Pearce, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Pearce, has returned from a six months' trip around the world. He and his sister Esther, are now in charge of Hotel Rossmore, while their mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Pearce, the hotel's proprietors, are on a month's vacation in the Middle-west.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearce left for the East today. They will visit Rock Island, Ill., Pearce's former home, and Jeffersonville, Ind., where Mrs. Pearce's brother, Carl Olson, resides. Ted Skinner, night clerk at the hotel during the past six months, has been transferred to daytime duty.

B'nai B'rith Lodge To Be Instituted

Re-institution of the Santa Ana B'nai B'rith lodge is planned for Monday night, with only 40 former members and newcomers to Santa Ana, who have belonged to other chapters expected to attend.

The meeting will open with a dinner in Legion hall at 6:30 p. m., with Abe Kirk and A. Draisen in charge. A Hollywood degree team will officiate at the reorganization.

RUTHERFORD BROADCAST

Members of Jehovah's Witnesses church are reminded that Judge Rutherford will speak at 3 p. m. tomorrow afternoon over station KGER on the topic, "Violence."

"No," retorted Finley, "I am the head of that department."

Chairman Smith cast the deciding vote against Snow, saying the department head should be supported so long as the board has confidence in him, but adding he felt Snow should be removed.

BOARD IS THANKED

As the board settled back, Blodgett rose and thanked Smith, Mitchell and Finley for "vindication" of the two women.

"But the other two members," he said, "are answerable for their inferences. Inferences, innuendoes, slurs and suggestions are the tools of those who refuse to come out openly."

Applause interrupted him.

Both Mrs. Spangler and Mrs. Lyons rose and thanked the board. Mitchell said he was not ready to vote on Snow's removal until after the director's charges had been investigated, and he demanded they be investigated by the district attorney's office.

"If they are founded," he said, "I certainly would not vote to fire Snow."

MANY PILOTS WILL ATTEND BARBECUE

More than 50 pilots and 150 flying passengers have made reservations for the barbecue to be given in their honor by the Santa Ana chamber of commerce and the city in connection with the second annual Air show at the Eddie Martin airport Sunday, June 19.

Invitations have been sent to 3000 licensed pilots in California by the chamber aviation committee, headed by General Chairman W. F. Croddy. Scores of acceptances are arriving daily.

The prediction was made today that this year's show will see more planes on the field and in the air than at the first event held last year, when a crowd of more than 20,000 turned out. At least 30,000 spectators are expected this year.

As each plane soars into the air during the show those witnessing the affair will be told, through a public address system, the make of the plane, its features, flying characteristics and other details will be explained. The Santa Ana show is unique in the nation, in that new ships are actually demonstrated in the air, as well as receiving display on the ground.

Gas Tax Division Decided Tuesday

Orange county's 13 cities, demanding $100,000 from the county as their share of gasoline tax funds, will hear the board of supervisors' decision Tuesday, following a conference of board members Monday afternoon.

Supervisors will meet informally Monday with Highway Supt. A. A. Beard to discuss the problem. Cities claim they are entitled to a share of the gas tax money paid by the state to the county.

The county had shared the funds with cities until this year, when the allocation was stopped because the county had to pay back part of the 1933 relief bonds from its share of the gas tax money.

ABBEY WINS ENDORSEMENT

A vote of confidence in Coroner Earl Abbey was passed last night at a round-table session of the Orange County Funeral Directors' association, meeting in Daniger's cafe. The resolution was the only item of business for the undertakers, who spent the evening discussing problems.

Tornadoes, Lightning, Hail Sweep Through Three States

5 ARE KILLED; CROP DAMAGE EXTENSIVE

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—Tornado winds, lightning and hail killed five persons and did heavy crop and property damage in widely separated portions of Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri yesterday and last night.

Explosion of an oil tank ignited by lightning killed Joe Battle, 36, and John Spell, 26, employees of the Mackhank Petroleum company at Eholding, Tex. A. H. Marx, another workman, was injured seriously.

In Kansas City lightning killed two spectators at the $500 Kansas City open golf tournament, William D. Boyle, contractor, and E. M. Critchfield, a credit manager. Several others were injured.

Hubert Arlen Thomas, Jr., 6, was electrocuted at Lawton, Okla., when he walked into a radio aerial which had blown across a high-tension line.

Tornadoes centered their fury in the Wichita Falls area and northward into Oklahoma.

At Wichita Falls, at least 10 persons were injured, one seriously, and many derricks were toppled by a tornado which roared across the KMA oil field section. Damage was estimated at $50,000.

At Grandfield, Okla., near the Texas line a tornado wrecked five brick business buildings and from 20 to 30 homes. Two women were cut by flying glass.

Power lines in the vicinity were blown down and the town of 1000 population was plunged into darkness.

The storm raged over the countryside north and east of Grandfield. Several farm homes were demolished. Occupants found safety in storm cellars. A hailstorm damaged crops almost ready for harvest.

FARIES URGES DEFEAT OF TIDELAND BILL

Urging local civic bodies to demand defeat of the Nye resolution calling for federal control of tidelands at Huntington Beach, David R. Faries, president of the California Tidelands association, telegraphed county supervisors to do all in their power to see that the bill is defeated.

"Schools, old-age pensions, unemployment relief, flood rehabilitation are all put in jeopardy by the Nye resolution to claim California tidelands now in rules committee," Faries' telegram read. "Titles to lands riparian to navigable rivers to filled-in lands in harbor areas, to all developments on such lands clouded if Nye resolution passed by congress. State will lose oil royalties, counties and cities will lose ad valorem tax revenue if the federal government is held to be the owner of California tidelands."

Supervisors here already have opposed passage of the resolution, which would call for litigation designed to take the tidelands for national defense purposes.

PRADO ROAD DEAL SIGNED

An agreement by the county with the state department of public works for relocation of the Santa Ana canyon highway near the Prado dam had been signed today by Chairman Willard Smith of the board of supervisors.

The agreement call for the county flood control district to reconstruct and relocate the highway near the dam site, and for the state to acquire rights of way and pay the extra cost involved in widening the road to four lanes.

Supervisors are expected to call for bids on the work within two weeks.

Taxidermy at J. C. When Students Nab Campus Weasel

Taxidermy became a practiced art at Santa Ana Junior college yesterday when mercenary jayvee students found a real live weasel scampering across the campus.

Joe Crawford, football player, led a swift chase and made the capture.

Kicking and squealing, the specimen was brought to the science room where Leo Miller, sophomore and college taxidermist, speedily skinned and mounted the animal.

Miller has collected and stuffed snakes, lizards and snakes, but this was his first weasel.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

The writer dropped into the Anaheim club's new headquarters at 224 East Center street last Thursday evening just in time to see Mrs. Ida A. Freeman, president call to order the first meeting held there. The platform had been built and seats arranged, but considerable other preparations are to be made before the hall is in complete readiness for the dedication service being planned for the near future. Next Thursday evening at 6:30 the club plans to hold a pot-luck dinner in celebration of the new downtown location.

The Laguna Beach club No. 1 is holding a pie sale today at Burke's grocery on Forest avenue. The pies are all home-made and the proceeds of sale will be used in defraying expenses of sending delegates to the National Townsend convention. Burke's grocery is donating the space for the pie sale.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend left by airplane for Ohio today at this week. He was called to the Buckeye state to address the state legislative body in connection with the Townsend plan. Ohio is leading all the states in the million Townsend new membership drive which is being promoted over the nation. Evidently the efforts of the Townsend clubs there is having considerable effect, when the result is a call for Dr. Townsend to come from California by air to address the Ohio legislature.

W. D. Anderson, 602 East Sixth street, and a charter member of Santa Ana club No. 10 has distinguished himself by never having missed a meeting since the club was organized approximately four years ago. Anderson does other things for the Townsend cause besides attending meetings. He is always on the job to assist in advancing in every way possible the interests of the entire Townsend program.

L. M. Van Slyke, Beverly Hills, a brother of Mrs. A. M. Mapes of 1704 North Ross street, this city has written concerning an appearance of Dr. Francis E. Townsend and Col. Ralph D. Horton before the Los Angeles club last Tuesday noon as speakers. The meeting was held at the Victor Hugo cafe. Mr. Van Slyke was instrumental in arranging for the date filled by the Townsend founder

Colonel Horton. Other organizations which the chairman of the Lions club was to be present were: The Kiwanis club, the Rotary clubs, the Toastmasters club, and the Lions' clubs of West Hollywood, Westwood, West Los Angeles and Culver City. Mr. and Mrs. Mapes were invited to occupy two of the 60 seats which were reserved for friends of Mr. Van Slyke. The Townsends of Los Angeles are rejoining because of those speakers being privileged to present to the attention of as many service men as members of the principal of the Townsend plan.

Tustin club No. 1 is celebrating the birthdays of its members which occur in June by holding a pot-luck dinner next Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Townsend club building at C and West Main street. D. L. Thomas and wife who were in attendance Wednesday evening at the play given by Santa Ana club No. 6 in Townsend hall furnished this column with the announcement. Thomas is president of the Tustin club.

Colonel Ralph D. Horton, Townsend speaker of Los Angeles is to address the meeting of the Electrical Workers' union in Santa Ana's Labor temple on West Fourth street next Monday evening. The labor organization groups all over the nation are beginning to awaken to the value of the Townsend plan as a program for their betterment. The result in numerous requests for Townsend speakers to appear before their organization meetings.

Santa Ana Townsend club No. 6 arranged for the appearance of Horton next Monday evening before the union group.

Bob Adams, Los Angeles Townsend speaker has been engaged to address the Twenty-Third club of Orange in the Broiler cafe on North Glassell, next Wednesday evening, June 8th at a dinner program.

Harold Thomas, member of the service club and also a member of the Tustin Townsend club arranged for the appearance of the Townsend speaker. Thomas is a son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Thomas of Tustin.

Santa Ana club No. 2 will meet in regular business session next Monday evening at 7:30 in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street with Pope R. Long, president in charge.

Tracing the steady economic, financial, social and agricultural growth of Santa Ana and Orange county during the past decade or more, the 1938 fact book issued by the Santa Ana chamber of commerce, under the direction of Howard Wood, was being distributed to chamber members today.

The mimeographed publication of 48 pages will be sent to chambers of commerce, advertising agencies and newspapers throughout Southern California.

The booklet has a complete directory of city, county and federal offices together with the names and addresses of service, social, and other clubs and organizations in Santa Ana. Nearly 50 churches are listed in Santa Ana. Several pages are given over to population data in Santa Ana. The mean high, mean low temperatures and the relative humidity for each of the 12 months are shown. The yearly mean high here is 73.8 degrees; mean low, 50.4 degrees and relative humidity, 75 per cent.

Average rainfall for the past 29 years has amounted to 12.77 inches, according to a statistical chart. The assessed valuation in Santa Ana has jumped from $7,474,535 in 1920 to $24,309,100 in 1937, the report relates further. Postal receipts during 1920 amount to $72,050; in 1937 they were $191,803.61, a new all-time high. Santa Ana bank deposits have doubled since 1920. At that time they were $11,728,920. Last year they amounted to $21,641,467.

A continuous gain in electric, water, gas meters and telephone connections has been noted each year since 1920, the report reveals. Santa Ana in 1937 had 11,685 electric meters, 9645 water meters, 10,924 gas meters and 3100 telephones.

County oil production during 1937 will amount to nearly 22,685,267 barrels which should bring in an estimated 22 million dollar income. The preceding year production was 21,551,004 barrels.

Santa Ana has four banks, 24 office buildings, six public buildings, eight fraternal buildings, five hospitals, five hotels, and five motion picture theaters, the report shows.

Windsor castle has been a residence of the British monarchs since the time of William the Conqueror.

$47,305 TAX REFUND ASKED BY PHONE CO.

Alleging its $4,000,000 Orange county properties have been illegally assessed, the Southern California Telephone company today was demanding refunds totaling $47,305.37 on taxes paid under protest to the county and 17 other taxing bodies.

Ten more suits were filed in superior court yesterday afternoon by the company, alleging $3,274,925 in illegal assessments out of total assessments—several by overlapping districts—of $5,416,250.

The company alleges its equipment should be assessed as personal property and not as improvements. Largest suit is against the county, which has assessed telephone company properties at $2,141,790 and collected taxes of $59,266.62. The company demands return of $30,458.97.

Suits were filed last week against the cities of San Clemente, Brea, Newport Beach, Anaheim, La Habra, Tustin, Orange and Placentia.

Yesterday 10 other suits named the county, Metropolitan water district, Orange county water district, cities of Fullerton and Santa Ana, and Garden Grove, Buena Park, La Habra, Placentia and San Juan Capistrano sanitary districts.

Prominent Democratic leaders from Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties met at Redlands last night to lay plan for a tri-county reception, tentatively set for June 30, in honor of Congressman Harry Sheppard's homecoming.

The affair will be staged at the civic auditorium in Riverside and will be climaxed by a dance—to which hundreds of residents of the three counties are expected to attend. Date for the occasion had been previously announced as June 13, but this was changed when Democratic chiefs here received word from Sheppard that congress might not adjourn in time for Sheppard to attend.

Marcus Meairs of Riverside was general chairman in charge of the meeting last night which was held at La Posada hotel. The following persons from Orange county were among those in attendance: Herbert Kenny, H. C. Head, Joe Peterson, Frank Harwood of Santa Ana; Joe Shea, B. J. Henry, Louis Hoskins, Harold Welch and Timothy Shea of Anaheim; R. S. Gregory, Lloyd Verry and C. R. Allen of Fullerton; L. A. Hogue of Brea; Henry Hall and Walter Henning of Laguna Beach.

Clock to Select New Suit Winner

One of the 200 boys in the graduating class at Santa Ana High school will receive a suit of clothes as a present from Vander-masts. The hand on a large clock will decide which boy is to receive the gift.

Printed on the face of the clock, which is displayed in the store's front window, are the names of the 200 boys. The clock is an eight-day mechanism, and the name the clock hands is pointing to at the time it runs down will be the boy to receive the suit.

Infantile Paralysis Victim To Go Places With Periscope

CHICAGO, (AP)—Fred Snite, jr., the self-styled "Boiler Kid," is going places this summer in a specially built automobile equipped with a periscope.

It will enable him to be taken on pleasure drives, and to ball games and other outdoor events which have been denied the 27-year-old infantile paralysis victim since he was stricken in Peiping, China, two years ago.

Young Snite was in high spirits when he arrived yesterday from his Miami, Fla., winter home. Encased in a large mechanical respirator, he was transferred from a special hospital train car to a specially equipped moving van and thence to Billings Memorial hospital.

He will be taken to his home in suburban River Forest after physicians make a 10-day study of his condition.

The journey from Miami brought to 12,000 the number of miles he has traveled in "iron lungs." He now is able to remain outside the respirator for 24 minutes at one time, an increase of one minute in two months, his father said.

Two Men Start on Trip to Far North

Dr. D. A. Harwood accompanied by Charles Cleary of Tustin left today by motor car for Seattle. There the men will embark for the Yukon territory. From there they will entrain for Whitehorse, and pack in from there.

They will be gone six weeks or two months on a fishing and game hunting trip. Dr. Chad Harwood, son of Dr. D. A., will take over his father's practice while the latter enjoys the vacation trip.

Liberty Will Be Discussed Sunday

The foundations of American liberties will be discussed at the Unitarian church tomorrow under the title: "Every Man a Priest."

This sermon by the minister divides in half the series of four addresses being given by laymen and women for the observance of Laymen's Sunday, Memorial day, Father's day and Children's day.

CHILDREN MAY BE SUED FOR PENSION CASH

Suits by the county against sons and daughters to recover old-age security payments to parents may be brought in superior court, Superior Judge G. K. Scovel has ruled today even though they may be for small amounts of money.

In a decision of statewide importance, Judge Scovel reversed a previous ruling on the welfare suits, more than 20 of which already have been brought here against relatives found to be able to support elderly pensioners.

The court upheld validity of a new state law providing for bringing of the suits in superior court, holding the proceeding is a special one, in an action to which the county is a party, and is for recovery of public funds, and therefore is a proper matter for superior court jurisdiction.

His decision was on a suit by the county against Ray J. Wilkins for $105 in pension payments to Wilkins' father, Edward W. Wilkins. The ruling had been urged by Deputy Dist. Atty. J. E. Walker, who has filed the pending suits.

Journal Executive Has Son Who Is Track Star

J. C. Flagg, business assistant to the president of the John P. Scripps Newspapers, can stick out his chest when the boys around the Journal office discuss track-and-field.

Flagg's 21-year-old son Jack, who has been as versatile to the Huskies as Jim Daneri was to Santa Ana's Dons and Oregon State, has been elected Paul Wright 1938 captain of the University of Washington varsity.

That's a real honor, and a deserving one for Jack Flagg. The lad, whose 140 pounds are distributed over a six-foot frame, does just about everything on the cinder path. He is a transfer from Franklin High, Los Angeles.

Statistics tell the real story, and if you don't believe Flagg's son is a "comer," scan the following marks:

100-yard dash—9.8 secs.
220-yard dash—21.5 secs.
440-yard dash—45.7 secs.
880-yard run—1 min. 57.8 secs.
220-yard low hurdles—23.6 secs.
120-yard high hurdles—15.5 secs.

Broad jump—22 ft. 1 in.
High jump—6 ft.
Jack's specialty is the quarter-mile. His best time of 48.7 was set indoors.

The younger Flagg may visit his relatives in Santa Ana this summer, after competing in two major meets in the East.

Bears' All-American Doing Well With A's

Credit Sam Chapman, the all-American footballer fresh off the University of California campus, with a leading role in the sudden spurt of Connie Mack's Athletics in the American league.

The A's, of course, aren't pennant-bound this year, but they have been setting the junior circuit afire during the past two weeks. Chapman has supplied an extra punch. In 15 games, he has hit for .314 and driven in 14 runs, a power base that makes up for the fielding experience he still lacks—something that will come within a few months in the big show.

Dust From the Sports Bin On Very Busy Morning

Santa Barbara State has been "working" on Blas Mercurio, the Dons' all-conference quarterback, and Cliff Hargrove, Valencia's all-around athlete. Both tentatively have promised to join the Gauchos in September, although Occidental, Redlands and Oregon still are hot on the trail of the versatile Mercurio, who high jumps 6 ft. 4 in.

If you run short on sports entertainment one of these Monday or Thursday nights, turn out for one of those Santa Ana City league softball games at the Municipal bowl. You'll be surprised at the high caliber of play—and it's free.

Attendance for boxing and wrestling at the Orange County Athletic club, and for softball in the City, County and National leagues should pick up tremendously now that the promoters are receiving a "break" in the weather. T. Nelson (Eric) Gaines, Orange county's rambling reporter, tells me Newport fishermen are catching 40-pound white sea bass off the pier at night.

Some of the eggheads were discussing what will happen when Armstrong tangles with Lou Ambers. One of them popped up: "Ambers can do one of three things," he said, "change his name, leave town or forward his title to Armstrong by the mailman."

LADIES' FREE NIGHT SLATED FOR '101' BOXING MONDAY

Another "ladies free" night will be offered boxing fans at the Orange County Athletic club Monday.

Promoter M. J. (Bud) Levin announced today that all women, accompanied by one paid admission, will be admitted to the eight-bout program upon payment of a few cents to cover state and federal tax.

The card will feature four fighters from the Ebony club of Los Angeles. Two of the fighters will be seen in the double main event, and the other two in the preliminaries.

In the principal bout of the "double main," Fernie Baca, the hard-hitting batter who has appeared on several cards at the 101 club, will meet Monroe Perkins of the Ebony club. In the first half of the double main, Eddie Diaz, 127-pounder, will meet Sammy Walker, also of the Ebony club.

Joe Gomez, Santa Ana, will battle the clever Jimmy Merced of Placentia in the semi-windup at 135 pounds.

Matchmaker Leonard (Frankie) Lookhart said he has signed the following matches for the remainder of the card: B. Jimenez, Ontario, vs. Walter Howell, Ebony club, at 122 pounds; Felix Gomez, Santa Ana, vs. Wally Bailey, Ebony club, 130 pounds; Cecil Payne, Long Beach, vs. Fred Cerda, Anaheim, 155 pounds; Sal Baca, Ontario, vs. Benny Garcia, Santa Ana, 124 pounds; and Bert Duran, Buena Park, vs. Joe Palacio, Santa Ana, 128 pounds.

San Bernardino at Irvine

It took Santa Ana's Stars until the ninth inning to solve Jack Dugan's slants at Orange last night. But Manager Ray (Doc) Smith's cohorts cut loose with a four-run winning effort in the last frame and the slugging demonstration showed the railbirds that once the Stars get started they'll be hard to head in this season.

The Stars took the decision, 4-3. Huntington Beach's seven-game winning streak through the first round was brought to an abrupt halt when San Bernardino won a 14-inning thriller, 3-2, at San Bernardino. Brea kept Whittier in the cellar with a 9-5 victory and Anaheim found little opposition from Irvine, 10-1, in other National Nightball league games.

Orange had built up a three-run edge when the Stars went to bat for their last ups. Dugan who had held the invaders to four hits weakened to give up five straight runs and was relieved by Roger Larimer who served up the winning hit to Ben (Bomo) Koral.

Joe Koral started it with a double to center and Stan Jacobsmeier helped out with a single to left. Tom Denney's infield hit filled the bases and successive singles to center by Tommy Lacy and Merle Hapes knotted the count. Replacing Dugan, Larimer proceeded to walk Bob Mott and then Bomo Koral lined a single to right, scoring Mott.

Orange scored one in the second on Roy Hahne's hit. Eddie Diaz, 127-pounder, will meet Sammy Walker, also of the Ebony club.

Joe Gomez, Santa Ana, will battle the clever Jimmy Merced of Placentia in the semi-windup at 135 pounds.

OLIVERS TUMBLED, 3-2, BY SAN BERNARDINO IN 14TH

King-pins over the first round of National Nightball league play, Huntington Beach's Oilers were tumbled 3 to 2 in 14 innings by San Bernardino last night, dropping the bombers to within one and a half game of Berdoo and Anaheim.

Vern Botts and Glenn Kelly working as a battery against their former mates for the first time, had scattered seven hits while Botts was mastering 20 batters via the strike-out route for 13 frames.

San Bernardino's lead off man, Weiser, started the Oilers' downfall with an infield hit to Rodgers. Stock poked a double which hit the left-field scoreboard. Watson was purposely walked by the Oilers' board of strategy in order to get at Zickzack who crossed everybody up with a scorching hit at Rodgers which almost tore his glove off to score Weiser.

Bob (Lefty) Fowler almost equalled Botts' strike-out mark with 15 victims. Alvin Rebohn, hard-throwing outfielder, was out of the lineup.

Wightman Cup Series Near

By SCOTTY RESTON

On her form early this season, Miss Stammers scarcely merits a place on the team, but she has the gift of playing up to the occasion, and may manage to come back to scratch in time to score one of her famous coups.

Miss Lum's chief bid for a place was made in the Hurlingham tournament, where she went through to the finals and then defeated Nancy Wynne, Australia's No. 1, in straight sets. She is a deliberate and methodical player, but is not thought to be good enough to extend any of the Americans.

DOUBLES TEAMS A QUESTION
The British selection committee has experimented with numerous doubles combinations, but will probably rely mainly on Miss Stammers and Freda James, and Joan Ingram and Jean Saunders. The Stammers-James combination won the Wimbledon title in 1935 and 1936, and last year won Britain's only Wightman cup point by beating Dorothy Bundy and Mrs. John Van Ryn. The other British combination was experimental.Selectors may go back to Miss Ingram and Miss E. M. Dearman for their second pair.

The U. S. doubles pairs will probably be chosen according to the standing of the teams after the first singles. It is unlikely that Mrs. Moody will be used in doubles play.

Brea Scores, 9-5

Brandishing their shooting irons for two four-run rallies, Brea's Red Lions, who were stopped cold for five innings while Whittier was taking a 5 to 1 lead, spurred in the sixth and eighth to hang up their fourth National Nightball league game, 9 to 5, at Brea last night.

Brea was held to seven hits by Whittier's Burch while for the fifth time Whittier pounded out more hits than their opponents—11—but failed to turn them into runs. Rudy Montgomery relieved Lynn Stewart in the seventh and pitched no-hit ball the rest of the way.

Two were out when Brea started its big eighth. Brazil Loumagne drew a walk and Snell got a life on an error. Montgomery and Johnson walked forcing in one run. "Red" Bath singled to score Snell and Montgomery and Charley Hale's infield hit which Jerberg threw away brought in the fourth score.

CUBS, CARDS DISPLAYING NEW POWER

Bill Terry's Champs Crack in Infield And Pitching Box

By SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Grey hair has stopped sprouting on Uncle Frankie Frisch's head and is popping up now on Terrible Bill Terry's scalp.

What with Dizzy Dean gone, his museum collection of so-called pitchers doing some passable work, and Ducky Medwick and Enos Slaughter leading a return of the Gas House Gang at the plate, Uncle Frankie is finding it a pretty fair world after all.

HUBBELL ONLY WINNER

Terrible Bill, on the other hand, can't quite make out what's come over his once proud and mighty Giants. Only a few weeks ago they were setting the National league afire, as though they were going to finish the pennant race in time to go fishing July 4. But at this writing they're limping along with a porous infield, bats with holes in them, and pitchers who, outside of Carl Hubbell, can't win for losing.

As a result, Terrible Terry's terrific Terriers are holding onto the National league lead by the slim margin of a game and a half over the Cubs, while Terrible Bill, himself, is busy trying to trade everything from his spare outfielder to a mortgage on the Polo grounds for a second baseman who can second base.

It's been just one thing after another for Bill recently. First his Giants couldn't hit. Then his infield began playing patty-cake with ground balls. Yesterday, a new and virtually unheard of problem bobbed up—his pitching collapsed. He started Harry Gumbert, the right-hander he thought would be the most improved of the new in the league this year. And all Harry did was give the Pittsburgh Pirates six runs in the second inning.

PIRATES WIN, 6-5
As a result, the Cubs, once the most obliging cousins the Giants had, came through with a 6-5 victory behind some neat mound work by Rookie Bob Klinger. Paul Waner collected three singles to boost his life-time total to 2501 hits, the only active National league member of baseball's 2500-hit club.

Meantime, the Cardinals, featuring a revamped batting order, have been moving right along. They stretched their winning streak to four straight yesterday with an 8-7, 11-inning decision over the fiddle Phillies. Don Padgett clouted a homer with the bases loaded, Enos Slaughter also whacked a round-tripper and Pop-off Mickey Owen came through with a pay-off single in the second extra frame.

The Cubs, getting over the jitters from Boston's pitching, clicked for a 4-0 win. Bill Lee blanked the Bees with three hits for his third straight shut-out and his fifth straight win.

With the bases loaded on singles by Willard Bath and Thompson and a walk to Loumagne, Snell rapped out a home run for the tying runs in the sixth inning. Brea scored its first in the second frame.

Two runs in each of the third and fourth and one run in the sixth looked good enough to take Whittier's first league victory.

SCREEN ATTRACTIONS AT SANTA ANA THEATERS

'YOU AND ME' BROADWAY BILL

The fact that parole laws of many states forbid marriages for paroled persons motivates the new Sylvia Sidney and George Raft picture, "You and Me," which opens tomorrow at the Broadway theater.

The two stars, last seen together in "Pick Up," play the roles of young ex-convicts, working for a philanthropic department store owner whose hobby is to give men and women a chance to go straight. Raft, who has served his parole, marries Miss Sidney after making a complete confession to her about his shady past.

Miss Sidney, still on parole, conceals her past from him because she knows that by probation regulations, she can not marry. And also, she is aware that Raft is desperately trying to steer clear of anything that will remind him of his gangster days. When Raft learns of her past, he becomes angry, gives up his struggle to go straight, returns to the "mob," and is saved from another criminal career only by the daring action of his wife, who risks another stretch in the "Big House" to save him.

The second attraction will be "Beloved Brat," a story of a willful, spoiled little brat, played by 14-year-old Bonita Granville, who is regenerated by a strict but kindly teacher in a probationary school. Miss Granville, whose past performances have won her acclaim, is said to top all her previous efforts in her new film, as the girl who had too much of everything except parental understanding.

Dolores Costello, whose name once shown brilliantly in front of thousands of theaters, makes her comeback in this new production. Now under a long-term contract with Warner Bros. studio, she is resuming the career to which she thought she said farewell when she retired about seven years ago to marry John Barrymore. The cast includes another former favorite, Natalie Moorhead, besides Donald Crisp and Donald Briggs.

A color cartoon, "Window Shopping," and world news complete the program.

OUTDOOR FILM AT WALKER'S

"Gold Is Where You Find It," an outdoor drama dealing with war between the California farmers and hydraulic miners of the 1870's, is scheduled to appear at Walker's theater Sunday through Tuesday. "Penrod and His Twin Brother," is the co-feature.

"Gold Is Where You Find It" is based on the best-selling novel of the same title by Clements Ripley, which ran as a serial in the Cosmopolitan magazine. The cause of the ancient warfare was this: The hydraulic miners, whose powerful streams of water tore away the hillsides, claimed that they had a right to search for gold in any way they chose. The farmers, whose lands were ruined by this, saw things in a different light and bitter conflict resulted. George Brent and Olivia de Havilland are featured players in the production. Billy and Bobby March, 12-year-old movie twins, are starred in "Penrod and His Twin Brother." The charm of American boyhood and its adventures which Booth Tarkington managed to get into all of his stories about Penrod Schofield and his pals is shown once again in "Penrod and His Twin Brother."

Blood pressure was first measured by the Rev. Dr. Stephen Hales in 1733.

Willard School Notes

Ninth grade home room students are meeting this week to discuss the type of tree to buy as a parting gift to Willard junior high school. Clayton Skirvin is general chairman of this year's tree committee.

"Tree Lane," bordering the west walk, was originated by Miss Vanche Plumb, counselor, when the present building first was occupied in 1931. The first tree was planted by the class of February, 1932, and the classes of June, 1933, 1934, 1935 and 1936 each has given a tree since then. Small bronze plaques set in cement identify these gifts.

An interesting display of rocks and minerals is presented by the H-2 general science class, directed by Norman Hicks. A woolly mammoth's tooth, dating back to the ice age, found in an Alaskan mine, is one of the most interesting exhibits. Mary Elizabeth Willis brought the specimen, a brown tooth about six inches long and two inches wide. There are specimens of fossil ferns, petrified wood, rose and sugar quartz, jasper pebbles, geodes quartz from the Chocolate mountains, flint from England, Iceland spar, clear quartz, milky quartz, garnet crystals and fossil shells which were found during construction of the Ortega highway near San Juan Capistrano.

Class members contributing to the exhibit were Betty Graves, Adele Lewis, Russell Long, Lowell Schroeder, Janet McFadden and Mary Willis.

The Stanford achievement tests, given yearly to thousands of children throughout the nation, are given twice a year to the seventh graders and once a year to the eighth graders, Miss Vanche

Plumb, Willard counselor, explained today. The examination is a battery of tests covering reading, spelling, mathematics, history, geography and general science. They cover subject matter in general and indicate the pupils' rate of work and degree of accuracy, Miss Plumb said.

"They furnish a basis for a general scholastic achievement and at the same time furnish valuable information relative to special abilities or special weaknesses of individual pupils," she added.

Laurel and Hardy Appear Shortly

Four "firsts" rang the bell at the Hal Roach-M-G-M studios when "Swiss Miss," Laurel and Hardy musical comedy coming to the Broadway theater in the near future, went into production. The picture is the initial film starring Laurel and Hardy under their new contract with Roach and is their first co-starring vehicle in more than a year. The picture marks the first American film appearance of Della Lind, Viennese songstress, and John G. Blystone, who directed, made his first appearance on the Culver City lot.

ROBERT TAYLOR AT WEST COAST

For the first time in his career, Robert Taylor shares honors with an automobile. The car is "Baby," a 1935 Buick-Vauxhall with which Taylor, Margaret Sullivan, Franchot Tone and Robert Young play many of their scenes in "Three Comrades," now showing at the West Coast theater.

Without "Baby," Erich Maria Remarque could not have written "Three Comrades" for the racing car has an important role in the picture. Margaret Sullivan first meets Taylor while the three comrades are on a Sunday outing in "Baby," and in the same car, after she has deserted her profiteering admirer, Lionel Atwill, Miss Sullivan's love for Taylor progresses as they drive through the country.

When Young becomes involved in a political riot, it is "Baby" who rescues him. "Baby" also speeds Miss Sullivan and Taylor on their honeymoon, and when Miss Sullivan suffers her first serious illness it is "Baby" who races the doctor to her bedside. After Young has been slain in another political riot, Taylor and Tone, with Young's body in the back seat, prowl the city's streets seeking an assassin and finally trap and kill him.

Although adapted from the best-selling novel by the author of "All Quiet on the Western Front" and "The Road Back," the new picture is not a story of national strife. Revolution and riot form a distant background for the tender love story that the picture unfolds.

Starring Jack Holt in his most vigorous and active role, "Crime Takes a Holiday" is the second attraction on the West Coast program. Holt enacts the role of a fighting district attorney, who is being acclaimed as the next governor for his cleanup of vicious rackets. Because he matches trick for trick with his gun-toting gangland enemies, Holt at times appears to be slipping toward disgrace in the eyes of his fellow citizens, but justice triumphs in the end. The cast includes Marcia Ralston and Douglas Dumbrille.

A Mickey Mouse cartoon, "Polar Trappers," and world news complete the program.

'Dead End' Boys Starts Thursday

"Crime School," a story of reformatory life, featuring Humphrey Bogart, Gale Page and the famous "Dead End" boys, comes to the screen of the West Coast theater next Thursday with a fast-paced western drama, "Under Western Stars."

The story of "Crime School" centers around a gang of youngsters in an East Side district of New York, who, spurred on by a junk dealer, launch into petty thievery. They are sent to a reformatory where the officials are political crooks who make money out of school contracts for food, clothing, etc., hold the boys under discipline like adult criminals and make no attempt to inculcate any of the ethics of right living.

'Kid Comes Back' Ends Tonight

"The Kid Comes Back," a romantic melo-drama of the prize-winning starring the sensational new star of "Kid Galahad," and "Submarine D-1," Wayne Morris, is to end its local engagement tonight at the Broadway theater, along with a second feature, "Women Are Like That," with Kay Francis and Pat O'Brien co-starred for the first time.

"The Kid Comes Back" is an exciting story of the pitfalls which hinder aspirants for the heavyweight championship of the world. "Women Are Like That" is a gay comedy revolving around the colorful and exciting advertising business.

Cuban Challenges Foe to Duel After Newspaper Attack

HAVANA, (AP)—Ruben de Leon, secretary of the Cuban Revolutionary party and director of the newspaper Patria, today challenged Senator Ramon Vasconcelos, president of the Liberal party, to a duel. The challenge was said to have been the result of comments published by Vasconcelos in the newspaper El Pais on Revolutionary party activities under the government of former President Ramon Grau San Martin.

Starred in 'You and Me' at Broadway

Sylvia Sidney and George Raft, co-stars of the dramatic romance, "You and Me," which opens tomorrow at the Broadway theater, are shown above against a background of some of the film's supporting players. Second film on the program is "Beloved Brat."

Brent at Walker's

George Brent appears in the screen play "Gold Is Where You Find It" which is coming to Walker's theater Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday. The story revolves around the conflict between California hydraulic miners and farmers during the 1870's.

The outstanding romantic drama of 1937 will be brought back to the screen at the State theater beginning tomorrow. It is the picture, "One Way Passage," featuring William Powell and Kay Francis. On the same show is the co-feature, "Heroes of the Alamo."

"One Way Passage" travels from China to Agua Caliente. In it William Powell plays the part of an escaped murderer who has been caught by Detective Warren Hymer, and between Powell's suaveness and Hymer's apparent dumbness, there is built up a line of comedy. Powell meets Kay Francis and plans to escape to Honolulu. His plan is dramatically thwarted just before the ship reaches San Francisco.

The climax of "Heroes of the Alamo" depicts the historic battle of the Alamo, which raged for ten days between a gallant band of Texans in the fortified old mission and 5000 Mexican troops under the personal command of General Santa Anna, dictator of Mexico. Every Texan lost his life in the massacre.

FREDDIE TARR CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY TODAY

Although Freddie Tarr's sixth birthday anniversary will not occur until next Wednesday, he celebrated the momentous occasion this afternoon by asking a score of young friends to a party in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Tarr, on North Ross street.

All the traditional games of pinning tails on donkeys, bean bags and a peanut hunt were planned, and late in the day Freddie's dad organized a baseball game, with suitable prizes for each event.

A gay red and white cloth covered the big table where the children were seated for birthday cake and ice cream, and the cake was made like a circus tent, with animals encircling it, and with a bright-hued awning top. Mrs. E. F. Jacobsen of Long Beach, Freddie's grandmother, assisted in serving the youngsters, and especially honored was little Ronald Crookshank, whose birthday anniversary is the same as Freddie's.

Guests at the party were Miss Margaret Walker, Miss Jean Spielman, Miss Claudia Brakelbill and Jack Harvey, Ronald Miller, Leece McDaniel, Peter and Douglas Horton, Dickie Merker, Buddy Manker, Donald Merker, Bobbie Van Drimlen, Tommy McFadden, Dickie Cameron, Kent Jordan, Ronald Crookshank, Harold Dale, George Spielman, Jr., and Hal Husher and Carl Morabito of Long Beach.

CHAT AWHILE with BETTY

Vacations, trips, parties—all are paramount at the moment. Most exciting rumors are those having to do with the proposed round-the-world cruise of four months which Braden and Kay Finch plan to take, starting around the 13th of June. It came up all of a sudden-like, but is so probable that they're madly taking cholera, typhoid, and smallpox inoculations and vaccinations, and arranging their ports of call so that they will get to Japan about the time that Calvin and Rose Marie Flint do, and thus tour the land of the cherry blossoms together. The Flints are going to spend the entire summer in the Orient, going as far into the interior of China as they possibly can. They are sailing on a de luxe freighter the very day that school is out. In the meantime lots of nice bon voyage parties for four swell folks—

Walter and Becky Bacon will be enforcing separate vacations this year. He's a naval reserve officer and has to spend about six weeks on the briny deep, while she dallies hither and yon. The Bob Millers and George Walkers are planning joint vacations of the come and go type, a few days to Catalina, a few to Coronado, perhaps Yosemite, with much fishing and golf filling up the gaps.

A whole crowd of the gay younger married set, including the William Staffers and the Joe Danigers and several others, are planning a stay of several days together in the same hotel in San Francisco, and the Carson Smiths and the Harry LeBards are thinking of their usual Catalina trip together. Pretty Helen Knox is abandoning her flock of little pupils and wandering casually northward. (Each year she means to go on to Oregon, but so far has only gotten as far as Fresno because of some mysterious attraction there.)

Voluble little Mrs. D. K. Hammond is bemoaning the fact that her pretty Betty will not get home from Switzerland for the summer months—there's just too much to be seen and done in Europe while she's there, and besides there's a possibility she may change from her Swiss finishing school overlooking the blue depths of Lake Geneva, and matriculate in England.

Charlotte Elliott, her blonde Constance who is virtually as big as herself, and her mother, Mrs. Ella June LaPiere, have moved to Laguna this week-end to live for the coming year. The Elliotts already have a lovely home on North Ross street has been leased.

The Harvey Gardners and W. S. Thompson made a quick dash into Los Angeles last night and are still breathless over the beauty of the Ice Follies. Adding to Mrs. Gardner's breathlessness was the fact that she hosted a big party yesterday and is immersed in the hectic-ness of having two graduations in the family, son, Dick from high school, and son, Jack, from junior college.

When Betty Mellenthin gets home from Colorado U. in a couple of weeks she's bringing a Florida girl, Jane Green, home to be her house guest. Both are staying over to attend a national Delta Gamma convention at Colorado Springs right after school is out, and to which Betty is official chapter delegate.

Beloved "Skinny" Skirvin and his nice wife celebrated their 46th wedding anniversary Wednesday. Mary Elizabeth Wallace of Santa Ana is one of 15 to be graduated "with distinction" from Stanford this year.

(Russell) Wilson had himself a birthday Wednesday. George and Janice Spielman are dallying with the thought of larger quarters for themselves and their brood.

Helen Wiesseman is concentrating these days on knitting the palest of silvery pink dress. Dr. Bulpitt, clever dresser, is fashioning a quaint lantern for the garden-house

Mrs. Nall Has Another Lovely Party

The four warm tones of her attractive potteryware inspired Mrs. Hubert Nall's decoration scheme yesterday afternoon when she entertained at the second of a series of early summer luncheons.

Vivid nasturtiums complemented orange-hued dishes, as did yellow violas the yellow. Blue pansies offset appointments of a similar shade, and white pansies contrasted with lovely green. To highlight the pretty effect were dainty little flowerlike placecards painted by the clever hostess. Delicate maidenhair fern contrasted with the entire pleasing effect, the gift of Mrs. Harold Segerstrom.

At the close of the pleasant affair Mrs. Nall presented high score prizes to Mrs. Roy Langley and Mrs. E. H. Fluer for their invited guests. Included the prize-winners were the Mesdames Henry Williams, William Stauffer, R. G. Hewitt, Harvey Spears, Kenneth Coulson, Fred Merker, John Cannon, L. N. Sherrard, Milo K. Tedstrom, Lyle Anderson, Don Hilyard, Clarence Holles, Eugene Robinson, Carl Edgar, Emmett Elliott, and Harold Segerstrom.

GIRLS' EBELL PLANS DANCE, BEACH PARTY

Excited plans for a beach party this coming Saturday at the Balboa island home of Miss Carol Brinkerhoff, and for their dance next Saturday, June 11th, were of principal interest to members of Girls' Ebell club yesterday when they met at the home of Miss Irma Jean May.

Co-hostesses in serving a refreshment course were Miss Barbara Tucker and Miss Marjorie Wall, and the three mothers, Mrs. Arthur May, Mrs. J. B. Tucker, and Mrs. E. W. Wall, assisted them.

Named to perfect plans for the dance which will wind up the year's activities were Miss Peggy Holloway, the orchestra; Miss Carol Brinkerhoff, the decorations; and Miss Rosemary Blodgett, the punch.

Present with the girls was their advisor, Mrs. Herbert Miller.

RECEPTION FOLLOWS RECITAL

Mrs. Curtis Vaught of 1209 South Birch street entertained at a reception following the Vera Getty dance pupil recital, for her aunt, Mrs. Josephine Young of Blackfoot, Idaho.

A buffet supper was served with a bouquet of lovely gladioli centering the table. Present were Mrs. Young, the guest of honor, Mrs. Louise Johnson of Los Angeles, Mrs. Billie Bridges and Mrs. Jimmie Graves of Laguna Beach, Mrs. Ina Marshall, Mrs. Vera Sager, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Getty, Mr. and Mrs. Ross McNell, Wilard Francis, Jim Getty, Miss Vera Getty and Mr. and Mrs. Vaught, the hosts.

COEDS GAMBOL ON LAGUNA SANDS

Members of Piloteers, Santa Ana Junior college women's service club, today returned from their overnight house party at Laguna Beach. Miss Merle Swingle held the last formal occasion of the year in her home.

Coeds left after classes yesterday afternoon and enjoyed a well-earned bake on the beach before attending the theater. Topping off the evening Piloteers served a midnight supper.

Those who were guests of hostess Miss Swingle included Miss Muriel Snyder, Miss Paula Cave, Miss Anna Mae Hatt, Miss Maxine Huber, Miss Marjorie Vollmer, Miss Gerry Peck and Miss Anna Mae Archer.

DUTIES END

Revelation on the Phone. You played the maid, but, lady coy, I was not fooled by that deep-thundered voice which said "Madame is out," for like the elephant, I remembered.

Donald Button's tea and showing of Seymour Paul's pictures tomorrow for which he's issued some 100 cards, ought to be a really worthwhile and enjoyable interlude somewhere between two and six o'clock. Paul himself is to be there, and in reality, the whole thing sounds very much like the beginning of a salon movement in Santa Ana.

Flower of the week: to little Mrs. C. V. Davis, who winds up a year as senior advisor of Ebell club to 150 Juniors, and has done a beautiful job of diplomacy there-in.

And so, on and on, with parties, luncheons, barbecues, dances, and stuff. I'll see you next Saturday, and in the meantime, did you know watermelons are on the market? —BETTY GUILD.

Two Parties Given By Mrs. Crookshank

Two charming parties were hosted yesterday afternoon and Thursday by Mrs. Ronald M. Crookshank, whose pretty home on Lowell street was a bower of flowers for each event.

Soft yellows were chosen by the hostess as the dominant color note, and were found in low bowls of roses, pretty little violas, tall gladioli and masses of golden scotch broom. Many of the flowers came from Mrs. Crookshank's own garden, and others were the gift of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank.

On Thursday Mrs. Crookshank was assisted in serving her six-teen guests by her husband's mother, Mrs. Clarence Crookshank, who has just returned from an eastern trip of several months duration. Yesterday her own mother, Mrs. F. W. Dudgeon, aided her.

Guests were seated both days at tables centered with potted yellow violas and after lunch played contract. High score prizes among the four tables Thursday were awarded Mrs. Quentin Matzen and Mrs. James Whyte (Eleanor Crookshank), while yesterday's went to Mrs. Russell Sullivan and Mrs. Frank Humphrey of Los Angeles.

ARCH MASONS HAVE FINAL DINNER PARTY

More than 100 members attended a dinner session of Royal Arch Masons at the temple Thursday night which was the final one until September.

Helen Smith Mabe served as general chairman of the event, and was assisted by a committee composed of Mrs. Benjamin Livesey, Mrs. Grace Wasson, H. M. Tedford, and the Messrs. and Mesdames David McMillan, F. J. Hersher, Harold Nelson, John A. Smith, Fred Triplett and A. E. Wallace.

Particularly effective table decorations were enjoyed with cellophane butterflies made by Mrs. Smith attached to colorful arrangements of flowers. During the dinner hour accordion solos and duets were played by Miss Anna May Hawkins of Fullerton and Dale Miller of Santa Ana.

Later while men gathered for their slated business meeting, ladies played bridge with contract prizes going to Mrs. Ella Nowotny and Mrs. Kate Hoffman and auction prizes going to Mrs. Helen Mabe and Mrs. H. G. Lycan.

PIERIAN CLUB ENTERTAINED AT BALBOA

Pierian club members met with Mrs. Olive Watkins at Balboa island. Following the picnic luncheon yesterday entertained at a pretty affair. Place-cards repeated the dainty colors, and about the rooms were beautiful arrangements of gladioli, snapdragons, and delphinium sent by the hostess' sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Simon Fluor III.

Lovely Rites Occur In Chapel

With the bridegroom awaiting assignment to a ship of the United States' navy, Mr. and Mrs. Willard S. Brown this week ended their honeymoon which followed their lovely wedding ceremony of May 22 at the beautiful new Colonial Wedding chapel on Seventeenth street.

The rites which united Miss Opal Brownlow and Willard S. Brown were advanced from the originally planned date in order that they might be performed by the Rev. Francis M. Arant of Covina, pastor of the Christian church to which both bride and groom formerly belonged. Its solemnity in no way detracted from beauty, however, and every appointment was in the best of traditional form.

The attractive blonde bride wore a softly modelled gown of triple sheer in white, offset by a crisp tulle veil which fell from a demure lace cap edged with demure pearls. She carried a bouquet of white bride's roses, and wore not only a six-pence given her by Mildred Weisgerber, a cluster of tiny blue flowers, and a dainty handkerchief loaned her by Mrs. Ella Faupel, but the beautiful gold and pearl necklace given many years ago by her late father to her mother, Mrs. Ethel Brownlow of Santa Ana.

Her sister, Mrs. Lloyd L. Stevens of Santa Ana, was matron of honor, wearing a long gown of aquamarine lace offset by tulle and a head veil of the same material in the copper tones of the roses. Two junior bridesmaids were the Misses Betty Jeanne Stevens, her niece, and Miss Doris Lorraine Faupel, both of whom wore pale blue taffeta with pale pink mallow veils. The Misses Marguerite Fox and Holm-Jacobson wore pink taffeta in differing shades for their bridesmaids' frocks, and carried bouquets of pink roses and sweetpeas. Little Lorna Frances Williams, also in pink taffeta and with the same sort of face veil of rose tulle, carried a silver basket of blossoms in her role of flower girl, and little Allan Arant, in crisp white suit, was ring-bearer for the double ring ceremony.

The setting was particularly beautiful, with its background of deep purple velvet and huge basket of white gladioli and larkspur, flanked by burning tapers in tall candelabra. Organ music played by Helen Stupialis of Covina preceded the nuptials, and during the ceremony solos were sung by Mae Arant and Lorene Croddy Graves. The groom was attended by his brother-in-law, Lloyd Stevens, and ushers were Royce Edson, Floyd Cole, Wilbur Cassidy, and Ben Anderson.

Following the wedding a reception for just immediate members of the family and the bridal party was held at the bride's home, with Mrs. Brownlow receiving in a frock of flowered white with blue and copper-hued girdle.

The groom is the son of Mrs. R. L. Fleming of Topeka, Kan., and he and his bride are planning an eastern trip, a deferred honeymoon, early next year.

Will Help You With Your Clothes Problem. Write Her!

There is a world of difference between being discreet in the way you dress—and being dull. We who cannot spend frivolously just have to be discreet. Otherwise, we are apt to be something much worse than dull, and that is distastefully conspicuous.

For it is dangerous to hanker after diamonds when the ten cent store is our jewelry shop! Now a discreet woman never buys a suit or coat or business dress which is apt to be noticeably out of style within a few months. For there always are plenty of current fashions which have a reassuring way of being wholly creditable in other seasons to follow—like a well-tailored suit, for example.

And out of this very wisdom, which makes her avoid caprices in large things, she has an ever alert eye for the exceedingly new and dashing and unexpected in small things! Maybe it will be an absurdly bright pair of nice suede gloves to match a flower on her hat! "It is being done," and so the curse of bad taste gives way to the thrill of just fashion. The gloves she need not wear to exhaustion, and to the distraction of her friends and herself, they can be changed. Or she will wear a silly little belt with new tinkling bells attached (they have them now) or twist two dozen strands of fine beads to make a heavy choker of bold colors—just for the month!

The woman who is dull may have the same fine suit. Only she will stop there. Very likely she shall have paid a tremendous sum for the suit too. Dull people always seem to pay the most! I am certain it is their thwarted instinct for a bit of dash! But, however potential that suit, the hat will be dreadful—even worse than the traditional English woman's hat. . . (American milliners are becoming quite a vogue in England now that this is changing). She is too frightened to wear a gay handkerchief, or, were she to buy it, she would hide it down deep in her pocket and never let it peek out in the new way.

NEEDLE WORK CLUB MEETS FOR DESSERT

Gab and stitch club members were entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Oscar Kurtz at 640 North Ross street. A 1 o'clock dessert was served at a long table centered with a miniature garden scene, surrounded by a tiny picket fence with arched gateways. Pantries formed the center of the floral scene, and shrubbery surrounded this.

Lovely bouquets about the living and dining rooms of the home were made up of snapdragons, scabiosa, centaurea and gladioli. Needlework was the form of recreation of the afternoon. Next meeting of the group will be held July 8 at the home of Mrs. Errol Barnes. Present for the afternoon were the Mesdames C. E. Treat, C. W. Hannah, Errol Barnes, William Kintz, Emily Pyle and W. P. Plummer.

JOHN WISDOM BACK IN JAIL FOR A YEAR

John F. Wisdom, Santa Ana, apparently doesn't live up to his surname. At any rate, he was back in the county jail today on a year's sentence for violation of probation.

Arrested in Fullerton on a charge of drunk-driving a few months ago, Wisdom was given a $150 fine or 75 days in jail. After serving all except 30 days of the sentence, he appeared in justice court and was placed on probation provided he could find a job.

Wisdom went to work in Los Angeles. On May 23 he was involved in an accident and booked on a felony charge, which later was reduced to a drunk-driving charge. He was given a six months' sentence, suspended for two years in Los Angeles, but the Santa Ana court, through Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison, demanded he be brought back to Santa Ana for violation of probation.

David McMillen, assistant probation officer, returned from Los Angeles yesterday with Wisdom, who was sentenced to a year in the county jail.

day at 7:30 p. m. in the council chambers of the city hall. Louis Kroeger, state personnel officer, will deliver the principal address.

He will discuss recent changes in the state civil service, the proposed revision of the rules and regulations guiding the personnel board, and in the activities of the board. He will close his talk by answering questions.

SANTA ANA CHURCHES WELCOME YOU SERMONETTE
(ON THIS WEEK'S CHURCH SCHOOL LESSON)
By Glenn L. Thorne

Our lesson this week, taken from Mark 14, compares the heart attitudes of Mary and Judas towards Jesus. More details of the incident may be found in John 12.

Jesus and the disciples are now in the town of Bethany where a supper had been made for them. And while they were still at the table, Mary brought an alabaster box containing costly ointment of spikenard, and broke the box and poured it on the head of Jesus.

No doubt Mary had wondered how she might express her love for the Master, who you will remember had raised up her brother Lazarus from the dead. A sister, Martha, had showed her devotion by serving. There were no criticisms made by the critics for Martha having done the work of serving, yet Mary was now criticized by some in the group who could not see the value of love and devotion thus expressed. Materialists and temporalists, cold business characters look only at profit. From this point of view nothing can be seen but waste in such an act. John tells us that it was Judas who was spokesman in this criticism. He wanted to know why this ointment was not sold and the proceeds given to the poor. No doubt the sale price would have been much. The reason given for objecting to the deed, however, was but a camouflage on the part of Judas. He was the treasurer of the apostles and wanted to get hold of the money "because he was a thief."

But Jesus answered the question quickly. He said "Let her alone; why trouble ye her? She hath wrought a good work on me." Not all values are to be found in material profits. Of course it is the right thing to help the poor. This is a real Christian duty. Jesus did not object to such a policy. But as we have noted, Judas' mention of the poor was not concern for them, but only an excuse. Jesus was pleased with the heart attitude and devotion of Mary, and knew that of Judas. How did Judas express his "love" of Christ? Verses 10, 11 tell us that he left the place and went out and sought to betray Christ to the enemy, and sold Him for money.

Let us summarize the events of this incident: Mary expressed her love by coming where He was, by bringing a rare gift, by releasing her gift, by bestowing it upon Jesus. What about the school of the critics? They wrongly evaluated the gift, measured values only in terms of money, their complaint was only an alibi. What was Jesus' attitude? He commended Mary's service, reminded the critics of the obvious fact that the poor are with us always, pronounced a blessing upon Mary. What about Judas? He tried to serve God and mammon. And there is no love more dangerous than the love of money. Here "the root of all evil" led to his betrayal of Jesus and to his eternal death.

MARY'S GIFT WAS LOVE

We do not ask "How much did it cost" when a friend hands us a gift, for money does not represent the value of a gift. The love and thoughtfulness that prompts the giving is what makes it of value. This is a thought concerning offerings we bring to Christ. He does not really need what we have to give—and if He did He could get it without our consent. Two miles from a loving, devoted giver is more in His eyes than many talents given begrudgingly or as a show. It has well been said, "The gift without the giver is bare."

Not all values are to be found in material profits. Of course it is the right thing to help the poor. This is a real Christian duty. Jesus did not object to such a policy. But as we have noted, Judas' mention of the poor was not concern for them, but only an excuse. Jesus was pleased with the heart attitude and devotion of Mary, and knew that of Judas. How did Judas express his "love" of Christ? Verses 10, 11 tell us that he left the place and went out and sought to betray Christ to the enemy, and sold Him for money.

Our Baccalaureate

To the young ladies and gentlemen of the graduating class:

Dear Friends: A few years ago it was the fashion for commencement day orators to tell members of the graduating class they had the world by the tail on a downhill pull—or words to that effect. We make no such declaration, for it wouldn't be true.

In this year of 1938, unless you have been especially fortunate, you have come in contact with some teachers (happily a small percentage) who see nothing but deep banks of gloom surrounding present and future, and whose philosophy and outlook are of despair and defeatism. We declare to you most emphatically that their doctrine, too, is false, maliciously false.

In the higher middle ground that exists between those two extremes is—where it has always been—the truth.

In your class, leaving good old Siwash or ABC H. S. this month, there are students who will accept the doctrine of defeat and be defeated. We sincerely hope the percentage of such is small. The bread-and-circus idea that came down from ancient Rome lures modern devotees to lassitude and despair, as it did of old.

In your class, also, there are students who—approaching their life problem in the spirit they felt when calling on the football team to "hold that line!" or demanding, "We want a touchdown!"—will proceed in the direction of the normal goal of happy, gracious, useful human lives. These—and we not only hope but firmly believe they will be in the great majority—will surmount obstacles and raze barriers that to preceding generations might have seemed impassable.

The human race in this year of 1938 has greater and better facilities, more infallible sources of supply of all necessary commodities, a better control of its medium of exchange, better educated and better physically-equipped individuals than ever before. Its wants are greater. Its standards are higher. Its thinking is keener. Its goal is better.

It is a fine large world we live in.

If you ask a man for "a job" he'll probably tell you he has no job. But if you tell him you want to join his outfit for the service you can give to it—and if you really mean that—he may be surprised at first, but he'll listen to you. And true service usually finds adequate compensation.

There are still two possible roads of life stretching out ahead of every individual, just as there has always been. One points up to achievement and happiness. The other takes a downward slant, and its route is not inspiring nor is its terminus a pleasant one.

The new arrival on life's field of action—the graduate of 1938—who can recognize that simple, elemental fact and make his choice the road toward achievement, the hard road, perhaps, will find himself work to do.

When there's a feeling of depression and inactivity in the mass thinking of the world and the nation it takes the spirit of a pioneer to defy all the accumulated jitteriness and anxiety of a decade and go ahead and carve for one's self a useful place in the world.

But it can be done. Members of every graduating class since 1930 have been faced with varying degrees of the same problem. And just a whole lot of them have blazed the trail in the direction of happy, useful lives, in spite of the fact that an almost unanimous world was crying, "It can't be done."

One of these years that trail to accomplishment, in spite of all apparent handicaps, will be so plainly blazed that graduating classes for which you now pioneer the way will be calling to the older generations and saying, "Wake up and come along; the way is still open ahead, and the territory we can see from the hill all looks fine!" Go to it, class of 1938!

Senator Wagner calls anti-Semitism "the beastliest manifestation of human degradation." And that's not putting it too strongly.

Save Yellowstone Park

The unspoiled primitive beauty of Yellowstone National Park, the property of all the people of this nation, is menaced by bills introduced in congress by Senator Pope and Rep. White of Idaho.

The bills authorize "the construction of a weir (nice word for dam) at Yellowstone lake and a tunnel for the diversion of water from such lake to a tributary of the Snake river" for the benefit of Idaho irrigation.

It is not the first time that an attempt has been made to invade Yellowstone National Park. But this particular attempt is especially threatening because the bills have been referred to the committee on irrigation and reclamation, which puts local interest in irrigation ahead of the national interest in natural scenery conservation and recreation. Such bills have usually been referred to the public lands committee, which favors conservation.

As far back as 1921 John Barton Payne, Secretary of the Interior under Woodrow Wilson, protested against similar bills going to the irrigation committee.

"When once you establish the principle that you can encroach on a national park for irrigation or water power," he told the committee, "you commence a process which will end only in the commercialism of them all."

Citizens who wish to preserve the wilderness value of our national parks—and that is their greatest value—should protest against these bills.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK.—With the campaign slogan, "I may look nuts and act nuts, but I don't think nuts," Mr. Man-Mountain Dean is seeking a career in statesmanship as a candidate for the lower house of the Georgia legislature for Gwinnett County. Mr. Dean is known to thousands of lovers of clean sport and admirers of manly physical grace and might in this country and the capitals of the old world, and he writes he decided to court the people's favor because he has nothing else to do.

To his many admirers it will not be necessary to recall that Mr. Dean was the one with the whiskers and the bulbous abdomen which looked and made squishy sounds as of a gigantic hot water bag, who used to engage in desperate wrestling contests with assorted Russian lions, German barons and masked marvels in the large centers, and, later on, the leaky roof circuit. His contests with the masked marvels were his best. Mr. Dean, large and forbidding men with his tangled foliage, which gave him the appearance of a burst horsehair sofa would attack the masked marvel with a great show of savagery. The masked marvel usually was smaller by several inches and perhaps 50 pounds and would suffer deep indignities at the hands of the Man-Mountain for perhaps 15 minutes. Mr. Dean would clout him on the back of the neck with vicious blows of his clenched fist, throw him over the ropes into the spectators' laps, twist his ears, sit on him and jounce and even insert his thumbs in the eyeholes of the little man's mask.

Customers Aroused
This would enrage some of the customers, and there would be loud cries of "Boo!" "Foul!" and the more chivalrous among them would threaten to leave their seats and avenge injustice by hand. Always some of the actors' entrance and gang the Man-Mountain.

After the first phase of the struggle the masked marvel, made desperate by outrageous impositions, would haul off and fetch Mr. Dean a swift kick right in his large and undulating middle and flee in terror of his wrath to a corner of the ropes. Mr. Dean, with a wild whinny of rage, would take after him, and the masked marvel would seize the top rope, swing both feet off the floor and kick the Man-Mountain flush in the whiskers. Mr. Dean would reel back, dazed and baffled, shake his head and come in again, roaring fearfully, just in time to catch another kick of both feet.

Sometimes it took three such kicks, sometimes as many as four, to send the mountain crashing backward to the floor, where he would lie, moist and heaving and smirking watery roars, like a beached whale, while the masked marvel, with a scream of triumph, leaped amid the voluptuous hummocks and folds of his torso to pin his shoulders.

Sometimes, when they had to catch a train, they would abbreviate the opus, but even its curtailed state it was full of drama, strife and violence, and the climax was such that the patrons never mobbed the Man-Mountain. Usually they felt a little sorry for a man so huge and sinister, so rudely and completely humbled.

Few, if any, of the spectators could have known that behind the rather awful exterior of Man-Mountain Dean, there beat the heart of a simple American patriot, a home-loving citizen, devoted and faithful husband. Such, however, was the case, for Mr. Dean, whose true name is Frank S. Leavitt, boasts of 12 years with the colors, including the period of the war, and he writes of Mrs. Dean as "my wife and pal."

Mr. Dean, if elected, will preserve the whiskers and the United States constitution, and from his acres in Norcross, Ga., this audacious Yankee invites old colleagues of the game in which he looked and acted (but didn't think) nuts, to stop in when passing for a word, a loaf and perhaps, a cup to Auld Lang Syne. All except, no doubt, Mr. Gene Fowler's wrestler, Mr. Claude (or Clawed) Nesselrode, who envied Mr. Dean's success and deliberately grew a mess of whiskers himself, an act which was protested to the trade commission as infringement and grossly unfair competition.

JUDGE STUMP

Dear Judge: I've ever discovered who so-called "bookworms" always seem to prefer some dull book to a good, rip-snorting murder mystery? C. O. D.

Nope; in fact I've never discovered why bookworms don't just stick to the seed catalogues. The diet would be a lot better for them.

STUMP.

TOO EXPENSIVE
Recently Aberdeen citizens met to organize a league for the abolition of tips. Sandy McTavish was present but passive.

Chairman: "Surely, McTavish, you are going to join. The subscription is only one shilling a year."

McTavish: "A shilling? At that rate I might as well keep on tipping." — Svenska Journalen, Stockholm.

Superintendents were appointed for each precinct to supervise clean-up work in a city-wide campaign launched by the Civic club yesterday. The superintendents: A. N. Cox, A. J. Perkins, Dr. A. B. Lull, E. E. Cooley, J. E. Lebig, F. L. Andrews, Robert Cogburn, Charles H. Wilson, Nath Travis and E. O. Shaw.

The supervisors today employed A. L. Hitchcock, Santa Ana accountant, to audit the county's books and accounts for the first six months of the year. The board also reappointed W. M. Fishback of Orange to the county board of education and named J. R. Parker of Fullerton to succeed J. L. Vandever of Anaheim on the school board.

W. A. Zimmerman, president and general manager of the Orange County Savings and Trust company, has been elected to the board of directors of the newly organized Big Four Electric Railroad company, which yesterday elected the local savings and trust company as custodian of its funds and trustee for its bond issue.

A $300 appropriation for advertising Orange county was turned over to J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the associated chambers of commerce, by the board of supervisors today.

WASHINGTON. — (Special.)—Discovery of "promising" amounts of platinum in the LaPlata mountains of southwestern Colorado on unclaimed public land, open for location, is announced here by the U. S. geological survey. It is the first promising platinum find in the continental United States.

Found by a chemical analysis of ores collected by Edwin B. Eckel, of the U. S. geological survey, the LaPlata region is estimated to contain some samples is as high as 54 ounces of platinum and palladium per ton. Platinum currently sells at $33 an ounce.

Geological survey experts declined to advise on possible production and methods of working this deposit. From other sources it was learned, however, that if the ore body found is large enough, the platinum can be best mined on a by-product basis—the ore body worked for copper and the platinum metals recovered during the electrolytic processes. This method of recovery has already proved successful in Canada.

A possible rush of prospectors to the district, not far from the silver mines of Durango, is foreseen. The new finds warrant at least "thorough examination," the geological survey declares.

Occurring two miles above sea level on Copper hill, between Beldock and Boren creeks, near the old town of La Plata and 21 miles northwest of Durango, the platinum-bearing veins have already produced 4,500 ounces of silver and 225,000 pounds of copper. Most of this production occurred between 1911 and 1917, when a tunnel "glory hole" and a 600-foot tunnel were excavated.

Buried by soil and the debris from an ancient glacier, much of the ore body is hidden, and only a fraction of it, known to be 150 feet in diameter and 50 feet deep, is exposed.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's Note.—The famous Merry-Go-Round brass ring series is resumed with an award to Lazaro Cardenas, president of Mexico, who takes his free ride in the following article.)

WASHINGTON.—The days of Lazaro Cardenas as president of Mexico probably are numbered. But when he goes he will leave behind a New Deal which will make the "Roosevelt revolution" look pale and innocuous in comparison. For Cardenas has engineered what is perhaps the most rapid bloodless revolution in history. He has taken 24,000,000 acres of land from large owners and divided it up among landless peasants. He has nationalized 7,000 miles of railroad, seized the petroleum industry and begun a program of free public education for children and adults alike.

Frequently Cardenas has remarked to his intimates: "I do not know who is going to succeed me, so I must get this done while I am in office."

So, almost like his neighbor in the White House, Cardenas has pushed on with his program. He has divided land among the peasants so rapidly that they lack tools, seed or money to work it. He has taken over the oil industry so suddenly that almost every foreign-owned well has stopped pumping. He has built irrigation dams and public works projects with money that he does not have.

He has built up a tremendous popular following. He will go down in history as Mexico's most popular president. But today his administration is foundering on the rocks of economic distress, and it will be a miracle if he continues through his term of office.

Cause of his foundering is exactly the same as that which is rocking the Roosevelt New Deal; refusal of business to cooperate; too large a dose of reform in one swallow; plus—in the case of Cardenas—the aloofness of the man in Washington who is suffering from similar problems.

Once a Jail Keeper

Cardenas was once jail-keeper when the Madero revolution broke, and opening the gates of the prison, he and his one prisoner joined the forces of the revolution. The now president of Mexico has been revolting ever since.

In Cardenas's veins flows the blood of the Spanish conquistadores and also the blood of the Aztec Indians. Like so many men who have risen to rule Mexico, he was born in a poor home and made his way to power through the army.

But unlike most of Mexico's dictators, he has not lost the human touch. He has scorned expensive limousines and the corps of armed guards usually associated with Mexican presidents. As governor of the state of Michoacan he refused his salary to the treasury from 1928 to 1932. He has traveled about the country, note book in hand, jotting down the needs of this community and that—a school here, water supply there, and so on.

Once, when stricken with appendicitis, he would not allow the removal of other patients from the hospital ward in which he was confined. And two years ago, without quoting the Biblical injunction about beating swords into ploughshares, Cardenas ordered tons of old cannon melted and forged into 10,000 ploughs for Mexican farmers.

Arab Station
One story told on Cardenas relates to his desire to improve the breed of Mexican livestock. To this end, he imported he became president, he imported an Arab stallion for breeding purposes. But after he had the horse a short time, it disappeared, and Cardenas learned that some enterprising patriot had practiced a little expropriation of his own.

Cardenas did not arrest the man, instead summoned him for a talk and said: "My friend, I brought this horse to Mexico for a social purpose. I expected to enjoy the possession of the horse, but the social purpose can be as well fulfilled if the horse is in your possession as if it were in mine."

"So you can keep it, provided that you will use it exclusively for breeding, according to certain standards, and charge no stud fee."

Army Officers' Opposition
It is Cardenas's finances and his muddled economic thinking that eventually will wreck him. He has a magnificent social vision, but no understanding of the practical means of financing it. And he has surrounded himself with men who either do not realize this or else lack the nerve to tell him.

Mexico is now headed for certain inflation. There is almost no other alternative. And although Cardenas purposely precipitated and quickly squelched the Cedillo revolt, his real trouble will come from his own army leaders. All of them conservative, the time may arrive when they merely will inform him that they can no longer support him and he had best take the next airplane to the United States.

Cardenas remains the most overwhelmingly popular man in Mexico, but if her present economic condition continues, his exit is inevitable.

What Other Editors Say

THIRTY EFFICIENT YEARS

Retirement of Richard N. Haydon, county recorder, from office at the end of his current term will bring to a close 30 years of honest and efficient service to Ventura county. First an undersheriff then as auditor and recorder and lately as recorder alone, Dick Haydon has maintained a reputation for courtesy and accuracy which few public officers achieve.

For several years he has been in poor health and the nature of his position has required him to remain indoors almost constantly. It is to be hoped that when he completes his term he will be able to soak up all he needs of the outdoors, which he has always loved, and to regain his health.—Santa Paula Chronicle.

"NO PANACEA BUT PATIENCE"

There is no panacea for the ills of democracy but patience. In these hurrying days when catastrophic events are moving swiftly, about the only democracy can do is to register earnest attention to the problem and trust to its leaders on the trial and error plan to make such solution as can be compromised out of the deeply diverse interests that honestly are affected by the solution. Unless democracy can afford to try and fail and learn from its failure and try again and then maybe fail but not so far, there is no hope for democracy in this world. Until striving, angry men, suffering under injustice on both sides of a controversy learn that when they turn to tyranny to bring justice it never comes quickly with efficiency. Justice comes only out of slow and evolutionary progress. When social action runs ahead of social thinking—I mean the will of the majority—force in trying to settle any problem settles nothing but the triumph of force. "CONTACTING"

Henry Curran, New York's deputy mayor, is making a brave but probably hopeless fight against the use of "contact" as a verb. Technically he is correct, but the emotional tides are against him. Indeed, I fear that his tactics are wrong and that he should build up rather than tear down.

It is hideously improper for one advertising man to say to another, "All right, J. K., it's understood, then, that I shall try to contact X. Q. at his earliest convenience." But that is the poor fellow to say, "I'll try to see X. Q." doesn't seem to fill the bill at all. Nor does "I will seek to meet him." And "meet up with him" lacks elegance.

The missing word must suggest something more than a mere hand wave from one great mind to another.

I seem to see two strong men of the bulldog breed sitting in a smoke-filled room arranging the destiny of some advertising empire. Although they have come together upon the strength of a word ineptly chosen, they are collaborating upon a search for the most just. Before the conference has ended they must agree mutually upon some noun or adjective which will break down sales resistance and make the entire nation tooth-paste conscious.

Naturally, the man who seeks to contact X. Q. does not come empty-handed. It seems to him that he is the bearer of the magic formula. He certainly does not enter the great man's sanctum with any ideas of losing. But X. Q. is a hard man, and he chews upon his black cigar and murmurs, "I wonder."

Hours, and even days, may elapse while the two sit and puff for inspiration. No sound is to be heard but the ticking of the clock and the clocking of master minds. Then suddenly as if shot from a gun, one of the negotiators leaps to his feet and cries, "Eureka!" The contact has been made and the contract is signed forthwith upon the dotted line.

One can readily understand that "to meet" is an expression far too feeble to express adequately the spirit of such a dedicated assignment. The smoke-filled room gives me an idea for a newly minted word which would cover the situation.

The man who seeks to contact the other principal has the same responsibility as the messenger made famous by Elbert Hubbard, and so I suggest that the original statement might well be amended to read, "All right, J. K., it's understood, then, that I shall try to garciaize X. Q. at his earliest convenience." —Heywood Brown.

I'LL TELL YOU.....

By BOB BURNS

Once in a while you see a newsreel showing a bunch of wealthy people or nobility and I can't help thinkin' some of 'em would look mighty funny if you could forget who they are.

It reminds me of the time I went down home for a visit and was invited to a big reception at Aunt Sophie Ledbetter's house. I pointed to a lady over in the corner and asked Aunt Sophie, "Who's that long, lanky woman over there?" Aunt Sophie says, "Not so loud—that lady jest inherited $50,000 and she's tall and stately now."

Philosophy

An eight-year-old boy looked up anxiously from a hospital bed in Elkhardt, Kansas, at the white coated doctor who had examined his frightfully burned and twisted leg.

"Tell me, doctor, tell me," he begged.

The doctor shook his head regretfully. "I'm afraid you'll never walk again, lad, but you're lucky to be alive."

"That's not what I want to know. My brother—did they get him out when the schoolhouse burned?"

The doctor looked at the lad, hesitated, then: "Can you take it, boy?"

The boy gulped, nodded his head.

"He's gone—Glenn. I'm sorry I have to tell you this—now." The boy's lips quivered. He set his teeth and turned his face away.

"Poor kid!" whispered the doctor to the nurse. "It's going to be a mighty tough going through life a helpless cripple."

A long time afterwards the boy stirred and looked at the nurse. "I don't care for myself," he muttered. "But the doctor's wrong. I'm going to walk again! I'm going to run again, faster than any body has ever run. I've made up my mind to it."

With the chances all against his recovery from the frightful burns he had suffered in the schoolhouse fire, little Glenn Cunningham fought with the courage of a mortally wounded warrior to live and get well. Finally able to hobble about on crutches, he watched other boys at play and repeated his vow to walk and run again. He would run faster than anybody had ever run in all the history of time.

The time came when he tried to hobble about without the aid of crutches, and little by little, through the long, discouraging months and years, he improved. At last he could walk—a little. Suffering agony, he began running a few steps at a time, a little farther each day. Then, shouting for joy, he began to run races with the boys. Before long he was forcing them to exert themselves to outstrip him.

Gradually his deformed leg straightened, grew stronger. His crutches were thrown away. Practice, practice, practice. Then he won a school race. The impossible had happened! The courage and faith that can move mountains had triumphed again!

A short time ago thousands of sportsmen packed Madison Square Garden in New York, and roared themselves hoarse as Glenn Cunningham broke the tape to set a new mark. He did it again a few days later at Hanover, New Hampshire, to the cheers of a mighty throng.

The boy with the burned and twisted leg is now the greatest mile runner the world has ever known.

In a little New England fishing village, I ran across a card with the picture of an Old Salt. Underneath were these words: "I am an old man, and I have seen many troubles, but most of them never happened."
